

LEGION FEASTS WITH AUXILIARY

Pass Resolutions of Sorrow at Wilson's Death

Pledging their loyalty to common interests and the program of work outlined for the coming months, members of the Port Arthur Legion Auxiliary, gathered Wednesday night for a banquet and "tea" meeting in the New Lake View Hotel.

Resolutions setting forth the sorrow of the Legionnaires and their auxiliary at the death of Ex-President Woodrow Wilson were read by L. T. Williams, member of the Legion board of directors, and provided that a copy should be sent to the widow of the late war president. Both the Legionnaires and the auxiliary unanimously adopted the resolutions.

Reports On Meeting

Following a report on the district meet recently held in Beaumont, made last night by James L. Dunn, post commander of the post here, P. J. Williams spoke on the activities of the Legion and the auxiliary, declaring all their efforts are inspired by a desire to attain unselfish ideals and to help all service and ex-service men.

On behalf of the Women's Auxiliary of the post here, Mrs. Milton S. Goss, president, told the Legionnaires that the women are studying the problems of ex-service men and uniting with the Legionnaires in every definite work. A close comradeship between the Legion and the auxiliary was predicted by Mrs. Goss.

Explanatory Remarks

Raymond L. Murray set forth the Legionnaire attitude toward the adjusted compensation measures, declaring that the Legion is opposed to the bonus, but does desire adjusted compensation.

Entertainment was given during the banquet by Mrs. E. G. Ruffner, who sang two vocal selections, accompanied by Mrs. T. F. Twomey, pianist, and Mrs. Edna Lyons Jones gave several readings. At the close of the banquet program, the guests remained for a dance given by the Legion.

DRINK WATER TO HELP WASH OUT KIDNEY POISON

If Your Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers You, Begin Taking Salts

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salt which helps to remove the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of good water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Glass Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithium and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they are no longer a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; can not injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithin-water drink, which everyone should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this also today. In the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.—Adv.

STOLEN FURS ARE SOLD HERE

Youth Confesses Theft to Sheriff's Department

Special to The News.
BEAUMONT, Texas, Feb. 7.—Furs to the value of $1,000 stolen recently from the John Finnegal company here were sold to various dealers in Port Arthur, according to a confession by a youthful thief. They have not been recovered.

The young man charged with their theft is an old offender. In the last six months, he has been charged with having on one occasion broken into a showcase and stolen clothing, another time with stealing 14 shotguns from a local shop and a bicycle from another occasion. The money stolen from the sale of the furs was used to purchase a motorcycle, now in the possession of the sheriff's department, it was said.

NON-JURY CASES OCCUPY COURT

SMOKER'S TEETH BLEACHED WHITE IN 3 MINUTES

New Safe Method Removes Stains—Makes Teeth Flashing White

No matter how much you smoke—no matter how stained your teeth may be—a new safe treatment has been perfected by prominent dentists, which bleaches away tobacco and other stains, leaving teeth wonderfully clear and white. This new discovery is called Bleachodent Combination. Consists of a mild, harmless liquid which softens and breaks up the stains, and a new kind of paste. The paste not only quickly and easily removes the softened stains—but used daily prevents the formation of new ones. You'll be amazed to see how quickly dark teeth are made flashing white and lustrous. Bleachodent Combination is safe and harmless to use. No effect on enamel as its mild ingredients are especially designed to not only on surface stains—not on enamel itself. Originally prepared for whitening children's soft, sensitive teeth which are so easily injured by harsh, gritty pastes and powders. Got Bleachodent Combination today. Costs a few cents at all good dealers, such as: Corner Drug Co. Hart Drug Co. McMillen & Glass, Service Drug Co. City Drug Co.—Adv.

14 ROTARIANS GOING TO MEET

Will Seek to 'Put Port Arthur on the Map'

That between 14 and 20 members of the local Rotarians will attend the district conference of Rotary to be held soon in Wichita Falls, and that it will be the purpose of every local man in attendance to put "Port Arthur on the map in Wichita," was the intention of the club today, noon when a large number of members, answered "present" to the roll-call.

A recommendation read by A. Borge as head of a committee consisting of himself, J. W. Williams and Howard Smith, appointed to define ways and means of sending representatives to Wichita falls was killed on the floor. The report of the committee suggested that a "put" be raised by popular subscription and that representatives be drafted in lots.

The membership present, after some discussion, came to the conclusion that each member contemplating attending had rather defray his own expenses, and 14 significant intention of attending the conference.

Guard Against "Flu" With Musterole

Influenza, Grippe and Pneumonia usually start with a cold. The moment you get those warning aches, get busy with good old Musterole.

Musterole is a counter-irritant that relieves congestion (which is what a cold really is) and stimulates circulation. It has all the good qualities of the old-fashioned mustard plaster without the blister.

Just rub it on with your finger-tips. First you will feel a warm tingle as the healing ointment penetrates the pores, then a soothing, cooling sensation and quick relief.

Have Musterole handy for emergency use. It may prevent serious illness.

To Mothers: Musterole is now made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole. 35c and 65c, in jars and tubes.

CITY MUST

department of the city were exceeded on December 31, almost as much as the original allowance called for, $14,580 having been allowed and this and an additional $11,532.48 spent.

At the close of business December 31, six accounts in the city government were overdrawn with three months remaining before relief can be afforded.

Balance on hand December 31, totaled $80,730.13, with a deduction to be made from this of $22,750, the latter figure representing the deficits in the six departments.

This balance plus leaves $57,980 from which must be deducted the appropriations of $5,000 for the hospital, $1,800 for the Red Cross and $200 for the Day Nursery. This leaves a balance of $50,980 with which to run the city during January, February and March. The running expenses of December were $53,356.54.

Enough for Two Months

Taking the month of December as a gauge the balance left in the city's statement the amount on hand is less than two months' expenses. At the end of March, it is believed, it will be possible to borrow money on some $74,000 in delinquent and unpaid taxes. This amount, however, it is not believed is in any measure sufficient to last out a period of three months.

Until the books of the city are balanced sometime this month to show the standing at the close of business January 31, the balance cannot be ascertained.

Mayor Logan in discussing the situation today said the city was in the same shape every year about this time and confronted with the necessity of borrowing money.

Cuts Down Payroll

"Some time ago I ordered a cut down in the city's expenses," said the mayor today, and dismissed 80 employees of the city and eight of the nine teams rented by the city.

"Our expenses this year will not be as great, I believe because of this. Several of the departments are bringing in more revenue than we had figured on. The drainage department has exceeded its appropriation by reason of additional work having to be done."

The mayor pointed out that many men had been employed by the drainage department in keeping the drainage ditches about town from clogging up and that a number of bridges were built, all eating up the appropriation of this department.

In the departments where deficits existed December 31, the following figures represent the amount of the original appropriation and the amount of deficit:

Pier, $3,000, deficit $1,105.
Electricity, $500, deficit $259.48.
Drainage, $14,500, deficit $11,532.48.
Interest and exchange, $2,700, deficit $1,023.35.
Insurance, $2,700, deficit $301.20.
Miscellaneous and general expenses, $3,000, deficit $9,017.17.

"Elections held for corporations who are to pay the bill.

With men having been laid off in the drainage department, rainfall in the city between now and March 31, will have to go unattended.

HOW DOCTORS TREAT COLDS AND THE FLU

First Step in Treatment Is Calomel, the Purified and Refined Calomel Tablets That Are Nauseless, Safe and Sure.

Doctors have found by experience that no medicine for colds, coughs, sore throat, and influenza can be depended upon for full effectiveness until the liver is made thoroughly active. That is why the first step in the treatment is the use of the famous Calomel Tablets, which are free from the sickening and weakening effects of the old style calomel. Doctors also point out the fact that an active liver may go a long way towards preventing influenza and colds and is one of the most important factors in enabling the patient to successfully withstand an attack and ward off pneumonia.

One or two Calomel at bed time, with a swallow of water—that's all. No salts, no nausea nor the slightest interference with your eating, playing or work. Next morning your cold has vanished, your liver is active, your system is purified, and you are feeling fine, with a hearty appetite for breakfast. Genuine Calomel are sold only in original sealed packages, price thirty-five cents for the large, family package; ten cents for the small, vest-pocket size.—Adv.

K. C. S. ATTACKS LAW VALIDITY, THEN SEEKS TO PROVE IT CONSTITUTIONAL

Here, gentlemen, we have before us again the K. C. S. railroad, now as the arbiter of law.

A good law, it seems, is a law which is construed by the K. C. S. as offering an opportunity to redound to its profit.

A poor law is one which would give common folk consideration and other railway lines an equal chance.

Some time ago the K. C. S. brought condemnation proceedings in order to build new trackage through the Brinkman tract. This line has been commonly referred to by K. C. S. officials as its industrial trackage. At that time it was classified as main line.

This seems simple on the face of it, but wait:

If the line is a main line track, all work on it since March 1, 1920, has been carried on illegally because the interstate commerce law amended at that time made it obligatory to secure permits for necessity and convenience preliminary to construction. This, so far as shown here, has not been done.

But, mark you, a certificate of convenience and necessity is a good law. Col. Duff has to have it to build his railroad extension to Port Arthur. It gave the K. C. S. an opportunity to file a protest and hold up the construction of Duff's line.

If the K. C. S., in bringing its condemnation proceedings, has classified its track as main line, then they themselves have not complied with it. Still it is a good law, they claim.

Section 3 of the interstate commerce act gives the commission authority to permit the use of one line's terminals by another carrier. This amendment became effective March 1, 1920, and is the section under which the historic K. C. S. dock case proceedings were brought.

This the K. C. S. says, is a poor law.

Section 15-A, which became operative March 1, 1920, required the Interstate Commerce Commission in their regulations to recognize the valuation of common carrier property devoted to transportation purposes. The commission was ordered by congress to so make the rates yield as nearly as possible 6 per cent, either as a whole or as a group.

This was done for this specific purpose: If the rates were based on so-called weak lines, stronger lines would have great revenue and go over 6 per cent, while if made in consideration of the needs of the stronger lines then the weak lines would have no protection in revenue. To offset the proposition of yielding 6 per cent, weak lines as against strong, the law ordered that the carriers turn over to the Interstate Commerce Commission one-half of all excess earnings on the basis of a 6 per cent return.

The constitutionality of this law recently was decided by the Supreme Court of the United States in the case of the Dayton & Goose Creek (Texas) railroad, which in its operation for ten months of 1920 and the calendar year 1921 had excess earnings over 6 per cent of $58,000.

In this case 19 lines joined the suit, claiming the act unconstitutional as to the proposition to return excess earnings.

The K. C. S., of course, was one of them.

The part of the act obligating the 6 per cent return was a good law.

That part decreeing the payment of half the excess earnings was a poor law.

Section 16 of the act holds that railroads shall have the right to recover undercharges where suit to recover is filed prior to the expiration of the three-year period from the date of the cause of the action. On the underhand, in the case of a shipper for the recovery of overcharges, the law holds that they have but two years. The inequality in this, it is pointed out, can be readily appreciated when it is realized that an endless ambiguity of interpretations of tariffs is not only a possibility but a fact, putting the shipper at a serious disadvantage. Still, the three-year application of the law for the carrier is a mighty good law, the K. C. S. maintains. And for once, the two-year period for the shipper—contrast the two time limits—also is a mighty good law.

In the case of Wolff vs. the K. C. S., Wolff filed suit for the collection of alleged overcharges against the K. C. S. Wolff won in the lower courts. He lost in the United States supreme court, however, because of his failure in bringing action before the lapse of the two-year period. The other issues of the case were not involved in the decision.

This appeal from the decision of the lower court to the supreme court was taken by the K. C. S. to prove the constitutionality of the law.

The K. C. S. in making itself a party to the suit in the Dayton & Goose Creek case did it in an attempt to prove the law unconstitutional.

The K. C. S. attacks the interstate commerce law in one action. It does its best to prove its constitutionality in another.

Just what, may we ask, does the K. C. S. stand for in the matter of law, anyway?

YOUR HEALTH By Dr. C. C. Robinson

FROST-BITE

During the past five years a great change has taken place in the matter of winter clothing and footwear. The old style of landing one's self up until you could hardly move, shivering down affliction on account of slow movements and inactivity, has greatly changed.

Thousands of men and women now make it a practice to wear low shoes and comparatively light stockings during cold weather. It is exceptional for anyone to suffer today from frost-bitten toes.

The feet are a long way from the central blood station and are so built that they are subjected to more cold, according to their area, than any other part of the body. Frequent bathing of the feet in cold weather will be found of value, as the rubbing will increase circulation.

The advisability of freeing the lower extremities from any undue pressure in cold weather is advocated. This allows a much freer blood circulation and consequently warmer feet. Tight garters, tight hose, tight shoes or any bands or close-fitting articles of apparel should be taboo in extremely cold weather.

If you are in the country or have to be out in very cold weather be careful that your fingers, ears, nose or toes do not become white and numb. The time for the sensible treatment of frost-bite is before it happens. Should frost pinch you avoid entering a warm room. Seek a cool place and apply cold cloths and cold water or snow. Rub gently until the feeling in the frost-bitten parts becomes normal.

If the frost one is over, blisters may form over the parts frozen. In such a case a physician must be called at once as mortification may set in.

THIS LITTLE OLD WORLD

NEW ORLEANS BY MASON DIXON NEA Service Writer NEW ORLEANS, La., Feb. 7.—

This "City That Care Forgot," has apparently broken itself of the manna habit. It still clings, however, to the banana habit.

According to the latest report of the City Board of Health, New Orleans is tugging itself to death, both in business and pleasure. The report also shows that we eat more bananas than any other community, population considered.

Somewhere in New Orleans is making a fortune on the races. But those so far discovered gathering in the coin are blind or deformed.

When the race track opened for the winter season, the Louisiana Commission for the Blind got permission for eight blind men to sell programs within the track. These men are selling more programs than any other group.

A bunch-back man stands outside the Fair Ground gates and permits those who intend to see the ponies to rub his hump. He is always spicily repaid. The blind men say those who bet on the horses think it brings good luck to buy programs from them.

The View Carré, old French quarter of New Orleans, is crowded with artists this winter. Some of them have pretty tough sledding. There is not any too much prosperity in the Latin quarter. But artists are sometimes business men.

When Eleanor Duse, the world-famous queen of tragedy, visited New Orleans, cronyism and autograph portraits of her quickly made their appearance. The View Carré artists had made sketches of the tragedienne and copied her signature. These were old at a good price.

Parties were frequent in the streets.

Sweet ponds are made as only a French chef can make it, is the chief dessert in New Orleans this winter. The recent cold spell upped all of the vegetables in the contiguous territory, and the market was flooded with sweet potatoes, which had been gathered prior to the freeze.

Louisiana is also cleaning up because the sweet potato crop throughout the country is only 40 per cent as large as it was last year, while this state produced a bumper crop with nearly 8,000,000 bushels.

A cell door cracks open in the Raymond street jail, Brooklyn, N. Y. An old man, 72, slowly and hesitantly walks out—into the open arms of his mother. 91. She had not heard from him for 22 years. But when she did hear, she came. Age mattered not. It was just mother and son. To a mother, the child never grows up.

A mighty force, mother love. The finest thing in life. At the end of the long, long trail, there are few things else that matter. That's why no life is ever futile.

INJURY A window cleaner fell from the fifth floor. His lawyers say he will be crippled for life. It was claimed that he had not been provided with the safety belt required by law. So a jury awards him $75,000 damages.

As such things go, this is a very large judgment, so large that it attracts much newspaper attention in the east. But $75,000, in the bank at four per cent interest, yields only $250 a month. Maybe this is more than a window cleaner makes at his work. But how many of us would be willing to be crippled for life for such a sum?

EXPORT Here is the farm export situation in a nutshell: Final figures show that exports of leading foodstuffs from our country in 1923 were valued at only $67 million dollars, compared with $217 million in 1922.

Things are going better now. But the farmer can look back and scowl at 1923 with good reason. You will hear more of this, as the presidential campaign develops.

Your Money AT WORK

Brief but Important Lessons in Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bonds and Investments

"I know you do," said Clara. There was a certain desolation in her tone, a certain self-pity, that told of something she knew. The two women looked at each other for a moment. Each gave something of commiseration to the other in that exchange of glances between these two who had been betrayed in such different ways, yet simultaneously.

It was Pearl who turned away. "I guess you ain't got much use for me," she said, quailing.

Clara looked at her as though staring the pity she had for herself. "Why?" she questioned, calmly, forbearingly. "What's the difference between us?"

Pearl turned toward her with eyes that did not understand. Somehow she felt that there was no bitter-ness here, but she did not know why. She had no answer to make. She backed nervously to the door and opened it.

"Well—goodnight," she said, bewildered.

CHAPTER XIX Temptation

Clara had turned, fatigued, worried, appealing eyes toward Gilchrist. I asked a gentle reproach. "Clara, I asked you—" he began, simply. "I've left him."

"Yes," she replied calmly. "For good. He struck me."

"No," Daniel protested. "Here—in the breast, and he's lying down—brandy-soaked and half-conscious—across the foot of my bed. She put her hands to her face as if to hide the sight."

"I can't believe—" Gilchrist was taken aback.

"He's been drinking," she went on in a more tone of despair. "More and more. And, of course, I've been women—from the beginning."

All kinds of women. That woman—she waved toward the door—"salesgirl, stenographer, women of our own class—do you remember—in your church—Mrs. Thompson? He's been quite open about her. Tonight we were going out to dinner."

He came to my room—drunk—and babbling that he'd refused to go with me. She was invited. Then I refused to go, and he accused me of—of you—struck me with his fist."

"He accused you?" Daniel straightened.

"Yes. And then he tried to take me in his arms. Night after night he'd come to me, drunk, and hold me in his arms. I said, 'I want nothing more degrading than pornography.' She looked up at him. 'I've come to see your way at last,' she said, in surrender. 'In the past two years I've learned what degradation means. I've come to realize that the material things are nothing—and that love is all. It isn't too late.' I've never too late," said Daniel earnestly.

"I know you'd say that," she said, with relief in her tone. "I'll share your work—your want—if I need be—gladly. Only take me away."

"But my work is here," he replied, not quite comprehending.

"We can't stay here," she protested. Jerry suspects us. He's made his father suspect us. Do you know what he's planning to do now?" Daniel nodded. "Jerry wants to send you to an asylum. He said so tonight. And he'll do it, too. The strange thing about Jerry is that, with his mind going, and his health gone, he still gets what he wants."

She appealed to him again: "Take me away, and we'll have five or six rooms and each other."

"Clara," Daniel was a man torn asunder.

"Don't you understand that I'm offering myself to you?" she asked, bewildered herself now.

"Yes, I understand," he said, simply.

"I love you," she breathed. "I need you. I've always loved you, and needed you, even when I lied to you—and myself. This is our last chance for happiness. I've been blind and stupid and cruel, but it isn't too late. She lifted tired arms toward him. "Take me and hold me, and we'll both forget."

"Forget?" He looked at her wonderingly.

"Forget everything," she said. "Won't you take me, dear?"

Daniel looked at her tenderly, intently.

"No," he answered, without a sign of emotion.

"Don't you want me?" she faltered.

"No." He did not take his deliberate eyes from her.

"That's not true," she protested. "You love me. You've always loved me. Look at me and deny it if you can."

"I don't deny it," he said simply. "I love you."

"Then take me," she urged.

"I love the good in you—the good you're trying hard to kill," he said with earnestness. "I love you be-

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Clara Jewett, in love with the Rev. Daniel Gilchrist, married Jerry Gilchrist for his money. Daniel, disheartened from the fashionable Church of the Saints in New York because of his radical sermons.

"Overcoat Hall," a refuge for the unemployed, is established by Gilchrist, and apartments with baths for the poor are maintained at a minimum cost.

George Goodkiss, Jerry's father, calls and orders Daniel to cease seeing Clara, who frequently visits the hall to help Gilchrist.

Pearl Henning comes in and warns Daniel that her husband is out to get her. She is a little girl, the girl is Daniel's help.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY "I know you do," said Clara. There was a certain desolation in her tone, a certain self-pity, that told of something she knew. The two women looked at each other for a moment. Each gave something of commiseration to the other in that exchange of glances between these two who had been betrayed in such different ways, yet simultaneously.

It was Pearl who turned away. "I guess you ain't got much use for me," she said, quailing.

Clara looked at her as though staring the pity she had for herself. "Why?" she questioned, calmly, forbearingly. "What's the difference between us?"

Pearl turned toward her with eyes that did not understand. Somehow she felt that there was no bitter-ness here, but she did not know why. She had no answer to make. She backed nervously to the door and opened it.

"Well—goodnight," she said, bewildered.

CHAPTER XIX Temptation

Clara had turned, fatigued, worried, appealing eyes toward Gilchrist. I asked a gentle reproach. "Clara, I asked you—" he began, simply. "I've left him."

"Yes," she replied calmly. "For good. He struck me."

"No," Daniel protested. "Here—in the breast, and he's lying down—brandy-soaked and half-conscious—across the foot of my bed. She put her hands to her face as if to hide the sight."

"I can't believe—" Gilchrist was taken aback.

"He's been drinking," she went on in a more tone of despair. "More and more. And, of course, I've been women—from the beginning."

All kinds of women. That woman—she waved toward the door—"salesgirl, stenographer, women of our own class—do you remember—in your church—Mrs. Thompson? He's been quite open about her. Tonight we were going out to dinner."

He came to my room—drunk—and babbling that he'd refused to go with me. She was invited. Then I refused to go, and he accused me of—of you—struck me with his fist."

"He accused you?" Daniel straightened.

"Yes. And then he tried to take me in his arms. Night after night he'd come to me, drunk, and hold me in his arms. I said, 'I want nothing more degrading than pornography.' She looked up at him. 'I've come to see your way at last,' she said, in surrender. 'In the past two years I've learned what degradation means. I've come to realize that the material things are nothing—and that love is all. It isn't too late.' I've never too late," said Daniel earnestly.

"I know you'd say that," she said, with relief in her tone. "I'll share your work—your want—if I need be—gladly. Only take me away."

"But my work is here," he replied, not quite comprehending.

"We can't stay here," she protested. Jerry suspects us. He's made his father suspect us. Do you know what he's planning to do now?" Daniel nodded. "Jerry wants to send you to an asylum. He said so tonight. And he'll do it, too. The strange thing about Jerry is that, with his mind going, and his health gone, he still gets what he wants."

She appealed to him again: "Take me away, and we'll have five or six rooms and each other."

"Clara," Daniel was a man torn asunder.

"Don't you understand that I'm offering myself to you?" she asked, bewildered herself now.

"Yes, I understand," he said, simply.

"I love you," she breathed. "I need you. I've always loved you, and needed you, even when I lied to you—and myself. This is our last chance for happiness. I've been blind and stupid and cruel, but it isn't too late. She lifted tired arms toward him. "Take me and hold me, and we'll both forget."

"Forget everything," she said. "Won't you take me, dear?"

Daniel looked at her tenderly, intently.

"No," he answered, without a sign of emotion.

"Don't you want me?" she faltered.

"No." He did not take his deliberate eyes from her.

"That's not true," she protested. "You love me. You've always loved me. Look at me and deny it if you can."

"I don't deny it," he said simply. "I love you."

"Then take me," she urged.

"I love the good in you—the good you're trying hard to kill," he said with earnestness. "I love you because you're big enough to do what's right."

"What is right?" she asked bewilderedly.

"Go back to your husband," Daniel spoke with calm deliberation. She flushed and straightened. "I'd rather die," she flared.

"I'd rather die—than this," he said cheerfully.

"You fanatic," she sneered. "You blind fanatic."

"I love you," he said simply.

"Love," she cried contemptuously. "You don't know what love means. You're only half a man."

"And I'm praying to God with all my strength," he returned, "to save us from the other half."

"For what?" she demanded resentfully.

"For you—and him—and for my people."

Fairly there came the voice of Mary Margaret singing to the cadence of her crutch-steps. "For the little girl out there."

"And for them you'd send me back to degradation?" she mocked. "That little girl's known degradation that you and I will never know," he said. "And she's singing. Her constant companions are poverty and pain and she's singing. She's crippled. She says never walk again. And she can say 'God's will be done.' She believes in me. I can't disappoint her and the rest. I'm going on with my job—and you're going back to yours."

"You mean Jerry?" she asked.

"Yes," was the answer.

"You think that God's will?" She was helpless and helpless now.

"I know it's your job," he said firmly. "You took it with your eyes open. It's up to you to see it through."

"Most I go on forever paying for one mistake?"

"Somebody must pay for our mistakes. That it was wrong to make a bargain doesn't make it right to break the bargain when we get tired of it."

"I don't know what to do," she moaned.

"Play the game," Gilchrist said convincingly. "Go back to that poor, mistaken man lying across the foot of your bed—his mind going and his health gone. Bear your punishment and help him to bear his. That's your duty, duty, duty."

"Duty, duty, duty," she echoed mechanically. "What about happiness?"

"There is no other happiness," he returned. "Oh, don't you see, my dear, that's been your greatest mistake! You're always crying—you and the world—I want to be happy. Happiness is service. Happiness is clean living and clean thinking. And self-forgetfulness and self-respect."

"And love?" She asked like a child.

"Love isn't all," he said. "Not the love you mean. You said, 'Take me, and we'll both forget.' Could we have forgotten promises unkept, faith disappointed, aspirations unrealized?" He smiled tenderly. "No, my dear, love, isn't all. Love is happiness. There's something bigger, and better, and more important, and that something is—duty."

"The world doesn't think that," she said doubtfully.

"That's what's wrong with the world."

"You want me to go back?" She was calm now—very calm.

"I want you to be right," he said. She paused undecidedly. Then she flung her head back and looked at him.

"Well then—" she said. "I'm going through. I'm going back and playing the game—with you in my heart, always. You don't forbid that, do you?"

"You are in mine always," he told her.

And this isn't goodby. She looked at him wistfully. "Sometime—somewhere—in this world or out of it—there must be a moment—and a place—to retrieve mistakes. Good night."

He opened the door for her and held out his hand.

"Fare—" he said. She knew what it meant. "Good night," he added.

"And—" she looked back at him—"thank you."

CHAPTER XX A Pitiful Confession

Wearied by the sheer effort of commiseration, Gilchrist sank into a chair. There was no smile on his face now. There was agony written in his fine lines. Save for his eyes, there was something of a dead man there. The eyes, though, still held the spark of fire that seemed to have burned itself out in the rest of him.

Mary Margaret found him huddled there, his face in his hands, motionless.

Ruffles Are Again Striving for Favored Place in Season's Mode

WHETHER go all these yards and yards of ruffled tulle and net, is a question one might naturally ask at any counter where rufflings, frillings, flutings and other ware of that description are sold.

The truth of the matter is that evening frocks chiefly composed of yards of ruffling have suddenly come into prominence. They are the very incarnation of fluff. Ruffles—doublets, a silent protest against the scant ruffled frock that has so long held the field among evening gowns. One may choose to look at these frocks as a compromise between the straight, scanty mode and the truly bouffant. But it is not only in evening frocks that the vogue for ruffles continues, although on evening frocks we find them of lace, tulle, or taffeta, frequently gathered, but more often finely pleated. Day frocks of crepe or moire have charming ruffled skirts, and countless silk frocks feature a circular rufflet at the bottom of the skirt.

Sometimes in evening frocks ruffles play a subtle role, the lower half of the dress being ruffled, the upper half being of the palest shade. This use of different shades of the same tone is a favorite trick of dress-makers just at the present time. An adorable example of this is a frock of silk and tulle, with long sleeves of silk and the skirt consisting of tulle ruffling in pastel shades.

For a more bouffant type of frock wider ruffings are used, sometimes only three making up the length of the skirt. A frock seen recently had three wide tulle ruffles in three shades of blue—the lowest one being the darkest. With this frock there is a little cape which follows out the idea of flared tulle flounces.

Soft, fluffy black net has been used for a charming, youthful frock with ruffled skirt. Net is an excellent material for a frock of this kind, as in addition to being extremely smart it has practical qualities not to be overlooked. As the one with many really chic models this season, the skirt of this net frock is the more interesting portion. It is made in three tiers, each tier being made of a lace of net, finely pleated. Although black, nothing could be more youthful in effect than this stately net frock, with its plain close fitting bodice of one layer of net over a foundation of black charmeuse which is edged with points of lace at the bust line. A dashing bit of color is provided by a graceful spray of flowers in fuchsia tones. All in all, it is a delightful little frock that would be becoming to both blonde and brunette.

ANNE ROWELL, WEARING A "HAT WITH A SOUL"

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—Perhaps you didn't know a hat has a soul. "That may be because you never met Anne Rowell of New York, Paris, London and any old place where women have heads and keep hats off them."

She claims it was this discovery of hers that raised her within five years from shop girl in a San Francisco millinery store to buyer for more than 50 wholesale millinery houses.

She goes to Europe and follows up every trail that leads to a hat—the shops, streets, churches and even the little remote towns where the peasants make their own styles.

On her return she puts her hats on display in her hat shops and, under the wholesaler's call, and at the time with their buyers and their cutting force, she gives them all a talk, and lets them copy ten of her hats. By the time 26 customers of her style syndicate have seen her ideas it is time to make another trip to Europe.

"It's a pleasure," she smiles, "and very easy to get these ideas—all because I see the soul of the hat. Most buyers see the price tag or the new trimming only."

"I keep my eyes open to the beauty in every form of adornment. I have no interest in flowers or quilts except as they contribute to beauty. Besides, looking for the soul of the hat and the instinctive thing which makes it what it is. I think of the American woman who is to wear my hat, and try to bring about a beautiful balance between them. This is the only talent I have and I am trying to make the most of it."

It is her fixed conviction that hats should be individual always, that there should be no two hats ever exactly alike, neither should two hats ever be identical.

The boy was sick about a month, and until the time of his illness, sold papers for The News here. Besides the parents, who live at 1148 Austin avenue, the deceased is survived by four brothers and three sisters.

Endeavorers Lay Banquet Plans At Meet Tonight

Final arrangements for a banquet Friday evening at the First Christian church at 8:15 o'clock will be made at the meeting of the general arrangements committee this evening at the church at 7 o'clock.

S. E. Bonney is the general chairman of the arrangements committee, and at tonight's session the banquet room will be decorated and all plans completed. A program has been prepared by Mr. Bonney and his committee for the occasion, with Miss May McCammon of Beaumont, young peoples' worker in the Beaumont Christian Endeavor District, automobile contest held recently in the principal speaker of the evening. Talks will be given by the president of the Christian Endeavor Society, Mrs. W. E. Clinton and Carl T. Long. Musical selections will be interspersed throughout the program.

The banquet is the result of an automobile contest held recently in the Endeavor Society in which the Dodge, driven by Mrs. W. E. Clinton, and the Ford, driven by Miss Vera Stanford, reached New York ahead of the Hupmobile and the Buick. The Hup was driven by S. E. Bonney and Carl T. Long was the chauffeur of the Buick.

Seventy-five reservations have been made for the banquet, reservations having been completed at noon today.

Members of the general arrangements committee scheduled to meet this evening are Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Bonney, Mrs. H. Claude Holmes, Mrs. J. E. Martin, Miss Gladys Garrett, Miss Aline House, Miss Lois Bantwell, Miss Wee Wee Griffin, Mrs. Dorey Bostie and Mrs. Henry P. Foots.

Walohi Campfire Enjoys Picnic At Port Neches

The Walohi Campfire girls, chartered by their guardian, Mrs. L. P. Dasgip, enjoyed a picnic to Port Neches Sunday. They met at the Dasgip home, 1040 Eighth street, and made for the park, where the day was spent in outdoor games and diversions. They were accompanied to the park by Mrs. N. H. Brenau and little son, Leonard, and A. F. Landry.

During the late morning hours the boys of the bicycle patrol and their director, L. P. Dasgip, arrived to participate in the outing. Lunch was served at 12:30 o'clock, and the campers, Brenau, Watis and George Stiehl, were complimented on their menu. Games and kidding were enjoyed during the afternoon, with the boys returning to the city about 5 o'clock and the girls at 5 o'clock.

Those participating in the picnic were Lucille Brenau, Isabelle Billand, Ursula Landry, Effie Mosler, Clara Rogers, Louise Marshbanks, Naomi Rogers, Rosemary Stiehl, Ada Vandergriff, Brans Watte, George Stiehl, Alton Headie, Leonard Stansbury, Walter Damsell, Howell Lee, Mrs. N. H. Brenau and son, Leonard, A. F. Landry, and Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Dasgip.

Port Arthur Women Open Department Club With Program Tomorrow

Open House Inaugurates Social Center With Best Talent of City on Program

The Port Arthur Department Club will be officially opened tomorrow.

This date marks the culmination of a dream Port Arthur club women have had for several years. It also marks the beginning of new activities in women's interests in Port Arthur. The rapid growth of clubs is evidenced by the numerous women's organizations in the city and the large attendance at each club meeting proves that the women are vitally interested in their club work.

That the women adhere to cooperation and believe that therein lies their power is evidenced by the new Department Club home, a handsome building, which is the result of much work on the part of every department of the club. It will be formally opened tomorrow with a reception and open house in the afternoon and evening.

Mrs. A. F. Graham is president of the Department Club and Mrs. A. A. Guter is vice-president. Mrs. Guter has been elected president for the 1924-25 season. Mrs. Arthur Bent is recording secretary. Mrs. J. A. Frampton, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Julius Deuter, treasurer.

Elaborate Plans Made

Elaborate plans have been made for the reception and open house. The reception, which will be given by the present officers, the directors, Mrs. T. J. Twomey, Mrs. J. B. Saint, Mrs. C. F. Gunn, Mrs. A. Goldberg, Mrs. K. A. Young, Mrs. Fred P. Dodge, Mrs. O. W. Keith and Mrs. F. L. Teuton, and the past presidents, Mrs. G. H. Eubank, Mrs. J. L. Drake, Mrs. Thomas Rice, Mrs. R. A. Young, Mrs. A. M. McAlister, Mrs. O. W. Keith, Mrs. Harry F. Bauer and Mrs. J. C. Reynolds. During the afternoon and evening delightful programs will be rendered. They have been arranged by Mrs. C. L. Yates of the Symphony Club and Mrs. O. W. Keith of the Young Women's Culture Club. Mrs. M. J. Painton is general chairman of the committee on arrangements, which is composed of Mrs. A. F. Graham and heads of the various branches of the Department Club, namely, Mrs. J. H. Winton of the Reading Club; Mrs. T. J. Twomey of the Symphony Club; Mrs. F. L. Teuton of the Young Women's Culture Club; Mrs. C. F. Gunn of the W. S. L. Club; Mrs. J. B. Saint of the Civic Club; and Mrs. A. Goldberg of the Council of Jewish Women.

The program for the opening will be as follows:

Afternoon
Solo—Selected—Mrs. Maurine Smith.
Quartet number: "Dream" (Greig)—Mrs. R. L. Drake, Mrs. Fred P. Dodge, Mrs. Clifford G. Hall and Mrs. Maurine Smith.
Duo—"Valse" (John McKers)—Mrs. J. A. Duane.
Reading—"An Abandoned Home" (J. C. Lamond)—Mrs. Gunn Lyons Jones.
Solo—"Joy of the Morning" (Harriet Ware)—Mrs. F. E. Gaudin.
Part Song—"Gaily We're Tipping" (Vezale)—Mrs. Rupert Taseball, Mrs. J. L. Gaudin, Mrs. Edith King, Mrs. O. A. Abel, Marie LeMaster and Miss Helen Crum.
The High School orchestra and the High School band will play on the porch during the afternoon hours.

Evening
Piano—"Tarentelle" (Nicolo)—Mrs. T. J. Twomey.
Duo—"Only in Thee" (Faens)—Mrs. R. L. Drake and Mrs. Clifford G. Hall.
Stringed Quartet: (a) "Allegro Movement Quartet No. 8" (Mozart). (b) Minuet in G. (Beethoven). (c) Allegro Movement and Rhapsody, No. 10. (Mozart)—Mrs. Neal Rader, first violin; Edmund Holloway, second violin; Miss Laura Burnham, viola; and F. W. Kerns, cello.
Solo—Selected—Joe Park.
Reading—Selected—Miss Marie LeMaster.
Solo—Selected—Mrs. R. L. Drake.
In the evening Moody's Glee Club's orchestra will play several selections.

It is the wish of the Department Club officials that everyone in Port Arthur will call sometime during the afternoon and evening and inspect the club and see the club home which the club women have built.

A Cordy Proposal
Young man—I should like to ask your advice, sir, whether I can marry your daughter.
Lawyer—No sir! Five dollars, please.—Answers (London).

This High School orchestra and the High School band will play on the porch during the afternoon hours.

Chairman For Open House Reception

MRS. M. J. PAINTON

Chairman for program at Department Club open house here Friday.

Praise to the Women

An Editorial

THE club women of Port Arthur have a home of their own. This Department Club home is completed. What wonderful news this is for all who are interested in the work this club as a whole has been doing here for the last few years. And the women who form this splendid club are to be congratulated on their efforts which have resulted in such a splendid new building for Port Arthur.

The site where the new club home is located is on the corner of Lake Shore drive and Orange avenue, one of the best locations that could have been selected for such an institution. The home was designed by Architect C. L. Wignat without any expense to the women, and through the generous donations of Port Arthur business men, the women of the Department Club were able to finish the work toward completion.

Along with other things which are contemplated, a room has been set aside especially for the work of the Port Arthur Campfire Girls, whose work is being sponsored by the club women.

Port Arthur should congratulate her club women, who have labored many years with this idea before them, and should give these women her moral and financial support in every possible way.

And Nature is kind!

The Hodges Company, Inc.

Heartily congratulate the women of the Department club on their achievement.

This club meets a long felt need in Port Arthur and is a real credit to the city.

We assure the members and officers of this organization that if it is possible for us to co-operate with them in any way, we will be more than glad to do so at any time.

We wish the Department club all the success in the world.

Members and officers we again congratulate you on the realization of your dreams.

NEW CLUB HOUSE SOCIAL CENTER

Other Organizations May Obtain Use of Rooms

This is a venture which relies itself upon its advancement, its power to progress and its wonderful achievements. It enables history to receive and bring forth perpetuation of art and science. Advancement does not end with the graduation of a woman with an A. B. degree any more than it does for a man with a Ph. D. degree.

Women's Clubs Important
More and more the observant may look forward to the astonishing movement of modern times. Every large city now as well as a great many smaller ones, may boast its own women's club, from which its members are realizing many opportunities of mingling in a sphere which embodies the higher things of life.

This is especially true of the Department Club of Port Arthur, an attractive structure of which the women of the city are proud. The six departments of the Department club will hold their meetings at the club home, thus making the club home in use from Monday until Friday evenings. But the Department Club is not going to be selfish with its new acquisition. Realizing that there are many other organizations worthy of just such hand-out headquarters, but unable to obtain them, the club will pursue the generous policy of extending privileges for very reasonable rental.

Brief Description of Club
The club home is situated on Lake Shore drive, near the canal, with a frontage of 210 feet on Lake Shore drive. The building cost $8,000. The site was given the women by the City of Port Arthur.

The main auditorium of the club house is the largest room in the entire building and will contain a cheery fireplace and a large rostrum. In addition to the main auditorium there is a room for the Campfire Girls, whose work the Department club is sponsoring; two dressing rooms, a kitchen, and a small hall. The main entrance from the front will be into the auditorium, but doors will also open on to the porch from both the campfire room and a dressing room.

Schedule of Meetings
The club sessions will be held in the auditorium, which has also been reserved for entertainments and social chats with a cup of tea near the attractive fireplace. A smart luncheon preceding the club sessions is also available, for the kitchen is well equipped with such conveniences as a refrigerator, sink, and stove.

The regular session of the Department club is—
Department club holds eight meetings during the club year on Mondays at 3 o'clock.

Reading club meets alternate Fridays at 3 o'clock.
Symphony club meets alternate Mondays at 3 o'clock.
Young Women's Culture club

meets alternate Wednesdays at 3 o'clock.
Women's Self Improvement club meets every Tuesday at 3 o'clock.
Civic club meets twice each month on Fridays at 3 o'clock.
The Council of Jewish Women meets the first Tuesday of each month.

Extend Their Most Sincere

Congratulations

All of Port Arthur should be proud of the efforts that the women of the Department Club have put forth in securing for Port Arthur a very charming club house. Every citizen should be proud of

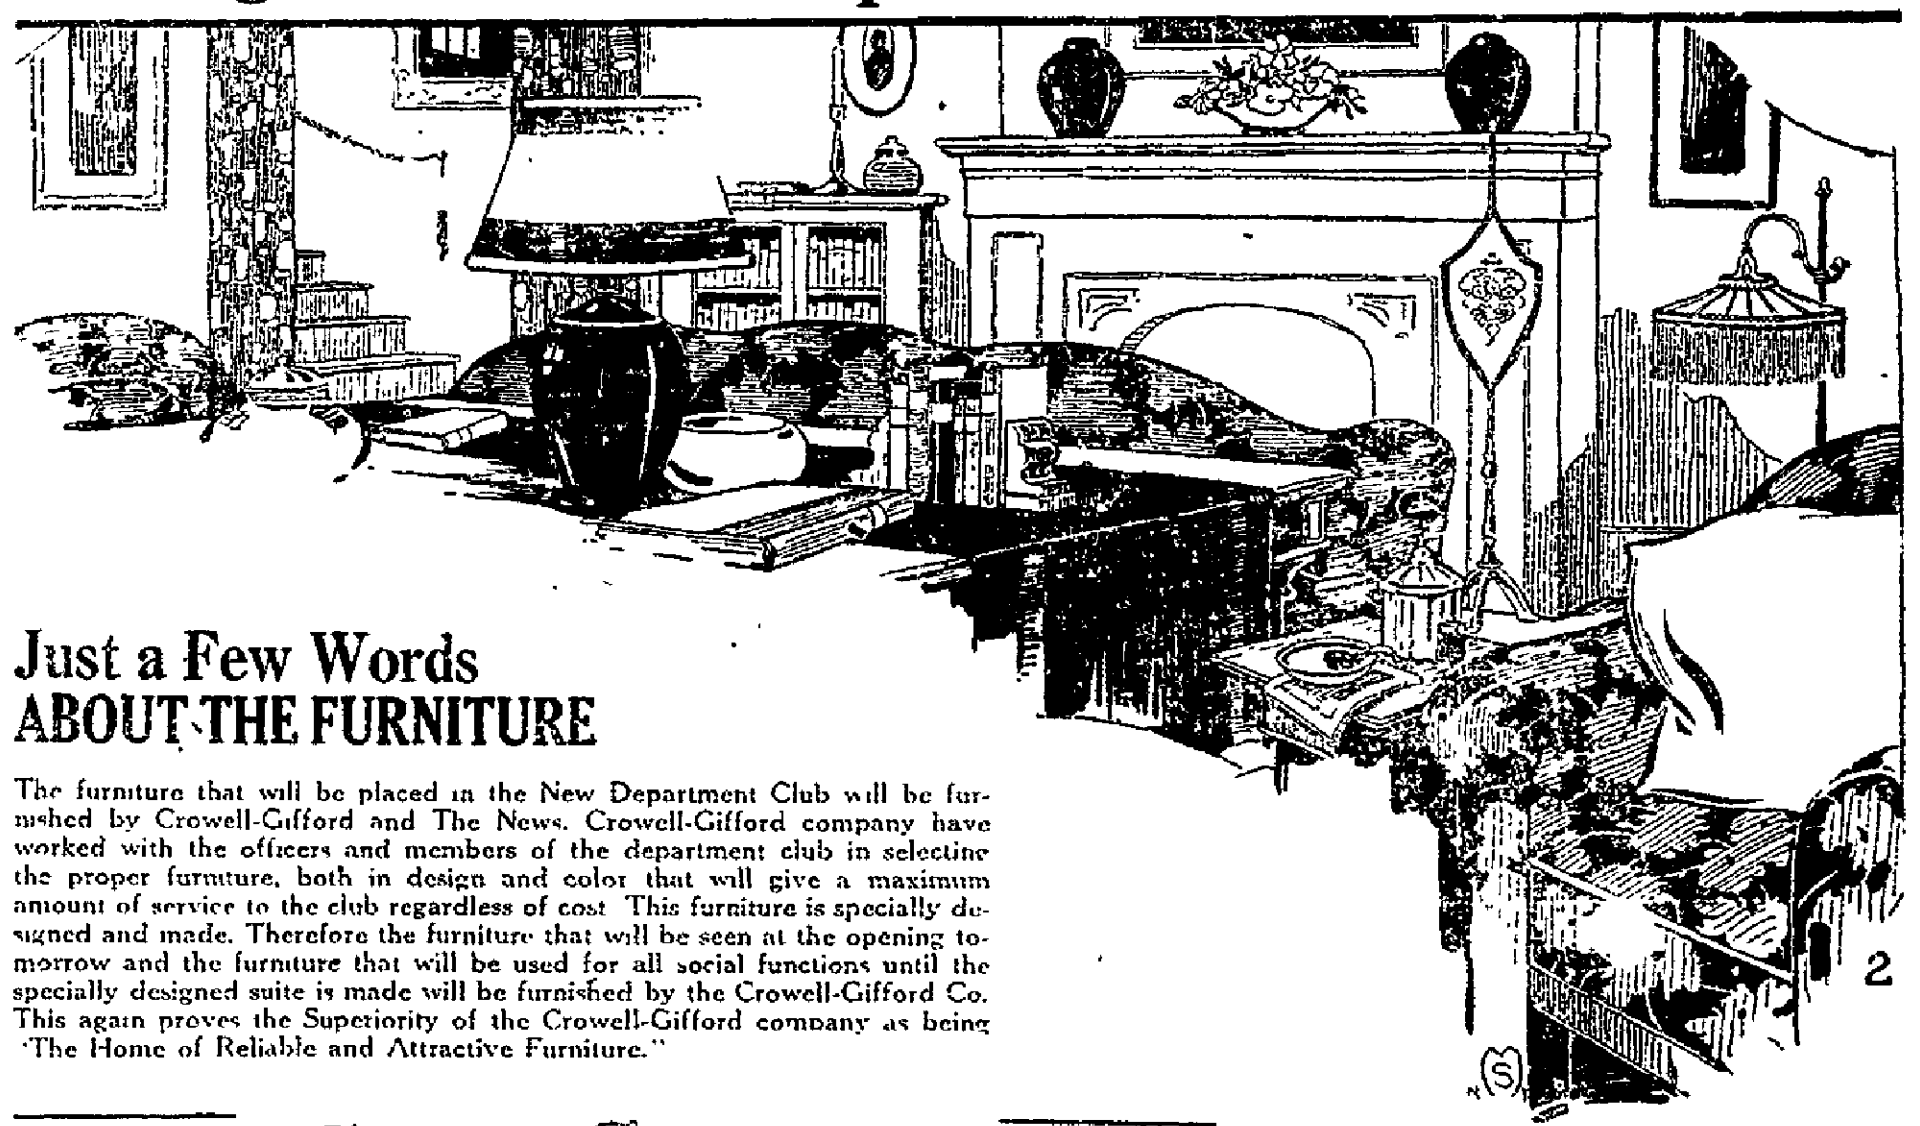

THE NEW DEPARTMENT CLUB

Everything that goes to make a comfortable and attractive club house has been put into this new building. Although not a mansion by any means, it meets the requirements of our city for the time being, and for some time to come. Many social activities that in the past could not take place, will now happen on account of this new club.

We feel like we are a part of the Department Club—we feel like we too have made another step of progress—so we extend our most hearty congratulations to the officers and membership of the entire club.

World's Largest Saxophone Will Feature High School Band Concert Unique Tonight

OTHER UNUSUAL FEATURES DUE

Third Annual Appearance of Musicians Promising

A saxophone which by direct comparison is the biggest boy in the Port Arthur High school is shown for a "basso profundo" solo tonight as a special feature of the third annual concert unique which the high school band is putting on in Franklin school, Owen Lantz, band director, said today.

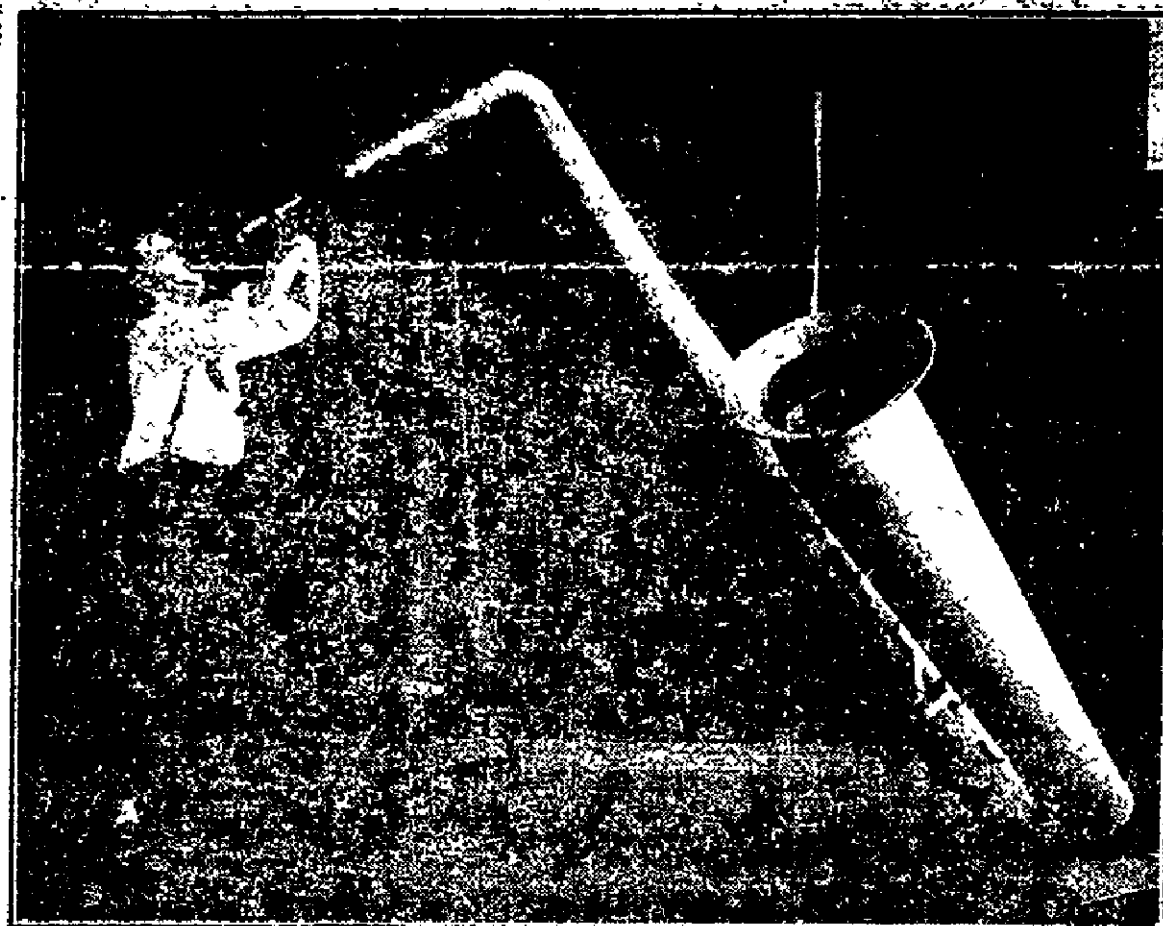

The mammoth sax, probably the largest in the United States, if not in the world, was built by Lantz. It weighs 100 pounds and measures 11 feet in height and 18 feet of tubing were used in the construction of the instrument, Lantz said.

As originally planned, a bellows stamped by hand furnished wind for the sax, but this plan could not be used, because there was no way to control wind flow through the reed, the builder said.

Gene Montgomery, "high man" of the high school, was sighted by Lantz and pressed into service to play the hefty saxophone.

Bellows weren't needed after Montgomery started puffing through the reed, and now tones round and deep, just like the bass notes on a pipe organ, roll out of the big saxophone, Lantz said. "The giant instrument has a bell which looks like a ventilator on an ocean liner, and required the breath of a good sea breeze to blow it," Lantz said.

Largest Saxophone in World to Be Played Tonight at Concert Here

Here is a saxophone which its builder, Owen Lantz, band instructor and director in the Port Arthur school, claims is the biggest instrument of its kind in the United States, if not in the world. Eugene Montgomery, "biggest" boy in the Port Arthur High school, blows this hefty sax, and will play a basso profundo solo on the Third Annual Concert program, put on by the high school band, in Franklin school auditorium tonight at 8 o'clock.

SCOUT SUNDAY IS SLATED HERE

Special Sermons Will Mark Anniversary

Opening Sunday with ministers of the city preaching special sermons to Port Arthur Boy Scouts, National Boy Scout week will be observed in Port Arthur by Boy Scouts of the city, Scout officials said today.

Parents of the Scouts will be urged to join with the Boy Scouts in putting the week over to make Scouting the big thing in the city, and all of the parties, exhibitions and meetings planned for next week are so arranged that not only the Scouts, but their parents as well may participate, Scout officials said today.

Among the Scout week entertainments now being lined up are parties for Troops 6, 15, 16 and 17, when Boy Scouts of these troops, their parents and prospective Scouts will gather for a general good time, is the word from Scout headquarters today. These troop parties will be held Friday night, Troops 6, 15 and 17 holding their party jointly in the Knights of Columbus hall.

City Will Improve Pier, Civilians Told

"Presented with the question of disposing of the Pleasure Pier, the YMRL decided that inasmuch as the city is heavily taxed on the project and Port Arthur taxpayers must pay out that obligation, that the foreign citizenship ought to have free reign at the pier without additional charge," George Carter, representing the YMRL, declared to the Civilians during the regular weekly luncheon at New Lakeview hotel today.

"The city plans to improve the pier," Carter continued, "and if the pier is improved as it has been during the last three years, the pier will more or less prohibit the contemplated Gulf Coast Exhibition and Show which is being fostered by the Chamber of Commerce."

Carter suggested that the Civilians pass some resolution recommending that the city operate the Pier without leasing it.

Chiefed Fax of the Sioux Indian tribe in T. M. county, South Dakota, Benjamin Iby of Arthur, Texas, and G. Langfelter of Houston, Texas, were guests of the Civilians during their regular weekly luncheon.

Local Lobbies

Registered at Port Arthur hotels today were the following:

Plaza hotel—Rudolph Steinhardt, New Orleans; S. P. Jacobs, St. Louis; Edward Schwartz, New Orleans; George B. Clark, Austin; C. E. Cook, Houston; G. H. Tripplett, Houston; H. F. Fisher, Dallas; Lila Bangle, Houston; T. H. Carr, Boston; G. Sichel, St. Joseph; P. W. Harris, K. C.

New Lake View Hotel—S. C. Lucid, Houston; Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Buckler, Conroe.

"BLACK OXEN" COMING

"Black Oxen" a Frank Lloyd production, released through First National Pictures, and featuring Corinne Griffith and Conway Tearle, is to be the photoplay offering at the Strand theatre starting Saturday when the management moves the musical comedy to the Pearce and opens the house to big pictures.

The best selling novel of 1923, in book form "Black Oxen" is said to have been greatly enhanced by the elaborate filming. Mr. Lloyd has given it. Dealing with the romance that develops when the rejuvenated Madame Zatzman returns to America on a business trip and finds the first true love she has known, "Black Oxen" presents more than usual interest to picturegoers, it is said, Mr. Lloyd, with the aid of Mary O'Hara, prepared the scenario from which the film play was made, and as a result, critics state, the story runs its length with pleasing rapidity and increasing interest.

Corinne Griffith, regarded as one of filmdom's most beautiful and smartest dressed stars, essays the difficult dual character of Madame Zatzman, and Conway Tearle has been cast as the romantic, now-paper writer, Lee Clavering. Clara Bow, a 17-year-old girl who but recently made her screen debut, was selected for the role of the flamboyant Janet Oglethorpe from more than fifty well known screen ingenues and established flapper types. Alan Hale is seen as Prince Moritz von Hohenhausen; Kate Lester, as Jane Oglethorpe; Harry Mestier as Jim Oglethorpe; Claude Macdonell, as Agnes Trevor; Clarissa Selwynne, as Greta Dwight; Tom Guise, as Judge Trent, and Lincoln Steadman, as Donnie Ferren, who had a weakness for parties and an utter disregard for Mr. Volstead and his ideas.

The Paramount picture, "Zaza," an Allan Dwan production and an absorbing screen engender, proved delightful in every respect at its presentation at the Peoples theatre last night.

COMING HERE

GUY BATES POST
Noted actor signed today for appearance in "The Climax" at the Elks Theatre, Feb. 15.

Gloria Swanson as the star, supported by able players, were extremely artistic in their portrayals.

"Zaza" is a sparkling picture and surpasses anything Miss Swanson has heretofore done on the screen. The role of the remarkable French character is one especially suited to her individual style of acting, and affords her unusual opportunities for keen emotional work of which she made the most.

NEGRO BOY WILL BE SENT TO REFORMATORY

Sentence of a year in the reformatory will be passed tomorrow in signing a commitment for a criminal negro boy whom police allege, they have connected with a series of clothes-stealing jobs here during the last few weeks. The latest episode of the negro was the theft of a suit of clothes from another negro, for which the criminal was arrested when he left an interurban car at Beaumont. The commitment will be signed tomorrow morning.

Quaint Operetta Centered About Schubert Engaged

"Blossom Time," the charmingly quaint operetta based on the music and life of Franz Schubert, which has drawn large crowds to the Ambassador and Century theatres, New York is booked for one performance at the Elks theatre, Sunday night, February 17.

The story is built on the life of the famous composer and tells the tale of his devotion to his art—music, and his attempted deviation from it. He loves and loves, because of his timidity and shyness, the daughter of the Jeweller to the Court. This girl has been attracted more by Schubert's fame and reputation than by his personality. When she was taken from him by the man he had thought his best friend, a streak of bitterness and despair enters his hitherto calm and placid life. Schubert becomes ill through mental anguish and devotes his efforts to a great musical work. After a while when the woman he once loved wants to return to him, he refuses, as he does not want to play the part of a villain, instead of love, the genuine. At the very last of his life, he saves his former friend from death. The last prices of his life are sweetened by the recognition of his great musical talents and the undying affection of all his friends.

Naturally Schubert's own beautiful music is used, and this gives the play melodies of a quality never before heard on the musical comedy stage.

An excellent singing and acting cast has been assembled including Greek Drans, famous baritone, Margaret Marie, soprano; Robert Rhodes, tenor; Fenita de Sorin, Spanish prima donna; Edward Orchard, Cliff Whitcomb, William Lullin, Robert Lee Allen, well known comedian, and many others. The company has been proclaimed everywhere as one of the finest that has played the South in many years which is necessary because real voices are needed to sing the lovely score.

FEATURE PICTURE
"MARK OF THE BEAST"

COMING To the Strand BIG PICTURES Starting Sat., 9th With

With honest pride I announce the return of Mr. Guy Bates Post to the speaking stage. More than a quarter century ago Mr. Post rapped at the door of "opportunity" in that great maelstrom metropolis—New York. The answer to his knock was gruelling days and sleepless nights. Every heart-felt 'wail' echoed and re-echoed in his brain until the 'wail' turned to 'I will.'

Today the "then youngster" bears, carries, controls more honors, more weight, more followers than any other man in his profession.

All America honors his achievements.

He has the distinction of having entertained more men and women within a given period than any other person, in his line, who ever lived. In every city in which he has appeared he has established new records from point of financial receipts. From "National Border to Border," on every side, he has been acclaimed "THE LEADER."

The consensus of many of America's foremost critics is:

"His intensity disturbs and arrests. As the greatness of his genius governs the trend of thought, arousing the genius that is—to a greater or lesser degree—the thing that governs, controls, dwarfs or magnifies the actions—attitudes—good or bad qualities—that makes or unmakes humanism. By his genius compelling his auditors to feel they are parcel and part of the play—causing their pulses to throb with his, their hearts yearn, glow, ache, and are glad with the beats of his heart, until actor and audience become welded as one—fused in the finesse of a single thought."

THE PLAY—"The Climax," by Edw. J. Locke, a play filled with suspense that comes spontaneously from that soul, seared in every normal person's breast of thinking age—interspersed with natural effervescing comedy that bubbles into chuckles and bursts into roars, causing tears to recede into the ducts from whence they spring, at the critical moment when more sorrow would be anguish, more selfishness produce pain. A play serious enough to make you think, funny enough to make everyone laugh, clean enough to please the clergy, good enough to live.

His appearance in Port Arthur at the New Elks Theatre Friday matinee and night, Feb. 15th—a total of two performances—will be the dramatic event of the decade.

MELVILLE B. RAYMOND, Director of the Tour.

In every city where Mr. Post has appeared capacity audiences have prevailed, and Port Arthur will not be any exception. Immediate reservations are earnestly requested.

Prices for matinee range from 50c. to $2.50, and at night from $1 to $3.

Independents Stepping Away From Other Opponents in City League as Race for Title Goes on

Mamos Wins Grudge Scrap With Single Fall on Toe Hold

Rogers Aggressive, But Elusive Artist Too Much for Him

Grapplers Keep Referee Miller Busy Preventing Fatal Mishaps as Mill for 185-Pound Supremacy Waxes Hot at Elks Theatre

BY BILL ARCHER

UP in Boston they raise beans. They also raise wrestlers, the toughest kind that step on the mat.

Stanley Rogers, Minot, North Dakota, whirlwind met one of the latter last night in Elks theatre, and learned to his amazement that Harry Mamos is one of the flashiest grapplers in the game.

After an hour and 33 minutes there was so much action the crowd forgot they had bought seats, and used standing space instead. And right at the end of that time, Stanley Rogers succumbed to the gruelling, painful, torturing toe hold Mamos was holding with a vise-like grip on the visitor's left foot, and the first fall went on record.

ONE FALL ENDS GRUDGE

That fall ended the argument, and settled the grudge begun last spring in the North Dakotan's home town, when he and Mamos went two and a half hours to a draw and failed to end the battle when police reserves intervened to prevent further fighting.

It appeared last night for a time—in fact, it appeared several times that Mamos and Rogers would quit the tactics confining them to pure wrestling and resort exclusively to the "first and skull" route, using a little mauling to help matters along.

REFEREE IS KEPT BUSY

They both kept Referee Vic Miller busy tearing them apart when they twisted off the mats, and several times the official had to take hold himself to prevent one or the other from hurrying his adversary over the corners of the padded floor into the orchestra pit below. Mamos smashed into the footlights once when Rogers rushed in, and the clattering clash which accompanied the report of bursting bulbs made the crowd hold their breath for an instant anticipating a cessation of hostilities while some physician prepared broken bones.

ROGERS AGGRESSIVE MAN

Rogers used an aggressive assault upon his adversary from the start, and he found in Mamos a willing boy, able to stand realms of punishment, and whose little body slipped continuously from the grips the Minot man resorted to.

It was Mamos' uncanny ability to wriggle himself to freedom and to his feet, probably, that saved the day for the Bostonian and which permitted the first and only fall to continue until the chance toe-hold presented itself. Mamos had been working on Rogers' feet for 30 minutes before the right leverage presented the opportunity to win the fall; but when the time came, Mamos pounced on it with every ounce of strength he had.

PAIN TOO MUCH FOR HIM

The pain was too excruciating; Rogers' leg was all but paralyzed, and though he put forth every effort to smash the lock that bound him, the Minot giant was forced to surrender.

Friends gathered around his dressing room as a physician examined him; George Actor, who defeated the visitor here several weeks ago, sauntered in, and was promptly ordered by Rogers to depart. In Mamos' dressing room, the Bostonian was awaiting the referee's pleasure.

CROWDS' VERDICT HALTS BILL

After a 20 minute rest, both grapplers returned to the arena, and Rogers, plainly suffering a gruelling pain in his left leg, announced to the spectators that he was painfully hurt, but that to show them he was not "yellow," he would continue the match if they wished.

"Call it off! Call it off!" the auditors howled from every corner of the theater, and the grudge was settled, favoring Harry Mamos, all for the price of one fall.

SPEED, SCIENCE FEATURE MILL

From the standpoint of speed and science, last night's bill was the classic wrestling battle that has been settled in Port Arthur since George Actor and Clarence Eklund wrestled for the title. From the standpoint of roughness and action, Will Fort is to be complimented on bringing together two of the best matched boys in the 185-pound class. Both showed a willingness from the start, and neither cared to let the issue lag.

Although Mamos was on the defensive a good deal of the time, he put his adversary in the same beat more than once, and the last trip cost Rogers the contest.

PRELIM BOYS UP TO PAR

In the prelims, Young Zbyszko and Strangler Ed had their match finished in 15 minutes, then the latter took the fall. Kid Mannino and Young Vaughn wrestled an interesting 10 minutes exhibition. Mannino is showing considerable improvement.

Promoter Fort announced at the ringside last night that he is negotiating with Paul Jones, the Houston sensation, for an appearance here, and it is probable the grappler will be carded soon with either George Actor, Harry Mamos of some other fast exponent of the game.

TEAMS READY FOR INVASION

Gulfie Crew, Yellow Jackets Prepare For Games

With the crew winding up their stiff training and taping off into lighter workouts, J. M. Pickett, Gulf basketball manager said last night that the protégés of Toddy Forbes will be better trained to cope with the St. Edwards contingent here tomorrow night than they have been at any time this season.

"We realize St. Edwards is no easy number to take in tow," Pickett asserted, "and we're not overlooking anything that might help us win."

Meanwhile, the local Yellow Jackets are working hard for their preliminary battle with the Purple of Beaumont High, and the indications are that when these two clubs go on the floor tomorrow evening at 7:30, a clash quite as interesting as the main attraction will be on tap.

2 WORLD MARKS CHANGE TONES

Women Set Up Records in Olympic Trials

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 7.—Two world's records and one American mark were broken here Wednesday by women swimmers at the try-outs for the Olympic team.

Sybil Bauer did a back stroke swim which established a new world record of 1:22.2, eclipsing her old record by 3.45 for 100 meters.

The 400-meter relay race was won by Gertrude Ederle, Aileen Riggins, Adelaide Lambert and Helen Wainwright, making a world record of five minutes flat.

Agnes Geraghty broke the American record in a 200-meter breast stroke swim against time, establishing a record of 3:24.2 seconds. The 50-meter handicap was won by Doris O'Mara, Aileen Riggins was second and Adelaide Lambert third. The time was 33 seconds.

Rogers Leaves With Foot in Bad Shape From Mamos Tilt

Fans who have an idea that Stanley Rogers is yellow have another idea due to come.

Rogers went on the mats against Harry Mamos last night in a somewhat crippled condition from his long, three-hour tilt at Enid, Okla., recently with Billy Edwards. Rogers knew his leg was in "bum condition" but he let Mamos know it.

He was plainly suffering last night at 11 o'clock when he boarded the interurban for Beaumont on his way back to Dallas.

"Mamos is a tough boy; he beat me," Rogers said last night. "I got to the hospital at him when my leg gets well," was the only comment he would make on the tilt.

And Mamos, who was victorious in the affair, said he was "I never met a faster, harder man than Rogers. Sure, I'm glad I won, but I've gotta hand it to Rogers—he's about the gamest fellow I ever ran into."

One By One, Old Tiger Favorites Drop From Team

By NEA Service
DETROIT, Feb. 7.—The passing of Bobbie Veach as a member of the Detroit team marks the exit of one more player Manager Cobb inherited from Hughie Jennings when he took charge of the Tigers in 1921.

Cobb plays no sentiment in baseball. One by one he has got rid of the old-timers who were the Starspanglers during the Jennings regime, until today there remain but four who were with the club four years ago. They are Harry Heilmann, George Sausa, Bobby Jones and Larry Wood.

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—Joe White, the Dixie light-heavyweight, will be the first opponent of Tom Gibbons since Gibbons went 15 rounds with Jack Dempsey at Shelby last July 4.

They will meet at Grand Rapids on the night of February 15. White is regarded as a tip-over for Gibbons and the bout probably will just help him get into condition for a program of summer camps.

Collins, Hornsby Not to Decorate New Scenery

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—With the time approaching for departure of the ancient soup bones to the boiling places of the south, it seems certain Eddie Collins and Rogers Hornsby will not decorate new scenery next season.

The insistence of the management of the St. Louis Cardinals, that the champion batter of the National league would have to play another season with Branch Rickey even if he wouldn't speak to him has been made good.

Hornsby's place in the St. Louis lineup for at least another year perhaps does not mean so much that the Cardinals were not willing to part with him as they could not get what they wanted for him; which may amount to the same thing.

Eddie Collins was sought by both the Washington Senators and the New York Yankees. The Senators wanted him for a manager, and the Yankees, fearing that Deacon Scott might collapse, wanted a reliable second baseman so that Ward might be shifted over to shortstop.

Figuring that Collins has not many years more ahead of him, as an active player, it was thought here that the Yankees might have desired his services in case Miller Huggins should decide that he had enough glory and money to retire. The White Sox, of course, were not willing to give Collins away and when Washington asked for him, the Sox wanted Buck Harris in return. The Yankees found also that to get Collins they would have to part with Ward, and like the Senators, they refused to deal.

Clark Griffith probably will have to manage the Washington club next season himself. But, the smart bugs say he has been doing that right along.

JOE RAY BEATEN

NEWARK, N. J., Feb. 7.—Joe Ray, America's star middle distance runner, failed to overcome a handicap of 125 yards imposed upon him and he finished fifth in the special mile race at the Newark A. C. games last night. Mack Knutts of St. Anthony club, New York, won the race in 4:20.4.5.

Fort Plans Snappy Races At East Texas Speedway

By TAB

ARRANGEMENTS are going forward with a bang to have the East Texas Speedway in crack condition Sunday for a series of events. Will Fort has signed up between the six winners who set fire to the Houston (Texas) dirt track the past Sunday.

"I've got the fastest cars that have been in the field at Houston and Shreveport," Fort commented last night, "and, believe me, they're going to do some running."

A Fordson tractor, the property of the Linn Motor company, has been at work for several days at the track scraping and rounding it into condition for Sunday's events, which will inaugurate the 1924 season of racing between automobile drivers here.

Among the drivers who will appear in the meet, Fort said, are Paul Clancy, Wild Bill Wade and several eastern artists of fame, and they all know how to get every ounce of pep out of their cars that the "babies" have in 'em."

GIRLS GET NEW RACING CHANCE

Sprinters, Relay Teams to Enter Eliminations

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—The hasty hands of the Meadowbrook Athletic club quarter-mile relay team, of Philadelphia, holders of the girls' world record, will meet their recent conquerors, the girls from the City Bank club, New York, in a return match at the Wilson games here February 10. Sprinters and relays for girls have become a regular part of club meets this winter, whereas, a few years ago girls took no part in such strenuous competitive sport.

Marion McCarty, one of the best women sprinters, and her City Bank club teammates, finished looking back at the champions in the recent Milrose games.

Five other girls teams are expected to run in a scratch relay race—the Milrose, Prudential, Sayre school, Lenox and Patterson club.

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—The pot will call the kettle a brunette Thursday.

Billy Gibson, manager of Gene Tunney, will go before the new boxing commission and make a formal demand that Mike McGuire be compelled to give Tunney a chance at the light-heavyweight championship of the world.

Gibson does not intend, however, to say anything about the demand of Tom Gibbons for a match with Tunney, with the American light-heavyweight championship, held by Tunney, depending on the outcome.

Gibbons has been as eager for a match with Tunney as Tunney is for one with McGuire.

BILLY EVANS SAYS

One of the worst abused individuals in baseball, next to the umpire, of course, is the catcher at third base. One of the most important features of the game, it seldom calls for praise from the fans, yet constantly places the person acting in that capacity open to censure.

"More games are lost at third base each year through bad catching than are decided by dropped fly balls," was the remark once made to me by a well-known manager.

The day previous, with no one out and the home team three runs to the lead, the first batter up in the last half of the ninth hit the left field fence with a line drive. It was apparent when the ball was hit that the batsman would have no great trouble making three bases. With no good reason, the runner decided to try for a home run, the catcher also motioned him to break for the plate. He was thrown out on a close play.

Several hits followed this bad piece of base running. Before the side was retired two runs were scored, one shy of a tie. Bad judgment on the first play of the inning proved disastrous, probably killed the chance to win.

Few players relish the job of coaching at third base. Some managers, who fear for the wrath of the fans handle the job. Most of them, however, delegate some seasoned player for the all important position. Very often he is some veteran star acting as assistant to the manager. One day last summer I heard Jimmy Burke, assistant to Frank Chance at Boston, soundly "razed" when he had made the proper play. Jimmy didn't like it and I didn't blame him. He looked at me with a puzzled expression and merely remarked, "Can you beat it?"

The play involved just such a situation as I previously described. Boston was trailing four or five runs when the first batter up in the ninth hit safely.

When the player rounded second and was on the way to third, Burke, playing proper baseball, motioned for the runner to pull up at third. One run at that stage of the game meant nothing. Boston had to get four or five. It was no place to take a chance on sending the runner home. It so happened that the fielder who made the throw to the plate cut loose a ball peg that eluded the catcher, and on which the runner could have easily made the plate and he kept on running. Then it was that Burke was showered with words uncomplimentary. Yet he had made the only proper play in holding the runner at third.

Unquestionably the catcher at third has a tough job. He must have good judgment and a keen eye. He must be able to rate the speed of the runner and the throwing ability of the man handling the ball. He must use sound judgment and then ride through. No wonder players do not relish the third base coaching job.

Close Pals, However, Aver It's "African Golf"

By United News
NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—Harry Wills, the melancholy stardom who has been pictured as a true son of toil with a daily job on the Hudson river docks, is reported to be playing golf at Hot Springs, Ark. Friends of Wills discredited the report and suggested that it might be African golf, which is quite a different pastime and not touched with the disgraceful character which prizefighters ascribe to golf.

Wills' postponed fight with Barry Madden at Newark, N. J., has now been set for March 3. The left hand that was bitten by his pet goldfish some time ago, necessitating the cancellation of several matches, has now healed.

"Put on your thinking caps, everybody," said the Riddle Lady. "It's going to take a lot of thinking today to guess the new riddle I've made up."

"I'm ready," said Nick.

"So am I," said Nance.

"So are we!" declared the Sprats and the Tuckers and the Treedles and the Crooked Man and the Widow Greedy and the Peter Peterses and everybody.

"All right," said the Riddle Lady. Here we go:

Like Jack's magic beanstalk, I grow very high.

And so thin that my ribs are quite plain;

But I've never yet managed to quite touch the sky.

Or discover the giant's domain.

"But I look with great ease o'er your high garden wall,

I can see in your window at night, And to learn our chimney's no effort at all.

So enormously great is my height.

"At house-cleaning time in the spring of the year,

I have barrels and barrels of fun, For I help with the painting and scrubbing, my dear.

And I'm in much demand till it's done.

"I help to hang awnings and tack on the screen,

And see to it that curtains are straight;

For cleaning the wall-papers I am the means.

"Oh, house-cleaning time is just great!

"And as for adventures I've many a thrill:

When I'm out, the tree-branch is my stand still.

I rush like the wind and then bravely stand still.

While the firemen climb up with the hose.

"Sometimes I have two legs and often I've four.

But I boast of no muscle at all. Divided I stand when I'm set on the floor.

But united I'd be sure to fall.

"Though high, I am lowly, I'd never raise my eyes.

To positions of honor and fame In the world I have helped many people to rise.

But they all step on me just the same.

"I'll bet you I know what it is," cried Wee Willie Winkle. "Because when I run around the town at night sometimes I have to have one to reach the children's windows and tell them it's bedtime. It's a ladder."

"Yes, sir," nodded the Riddle Lady. "That's right. And you get the prize. A nice new magic ladder of your own."

CHILD'S STORY OF THE HUMAN RACE By Uncle Ray

CHAPTER 105

A Visit to Mount Olympus

The chief gods and goddesses of olden Greece were supposed to live on the top of Mount Olympus, a peak in the far north of the country. Their homes were palaces of brass. The finest belonged to Zeus, who was a daily host to the other deities. They gathered in a great hall and feasted on ambrosia and nectar, while they talked of affairs of a heaven and on earth.

Ambrosia, a delicious food, gave everlasting life to all who ate. Nectar was a sweet and delightful drink. During the feasts, Apollo, god of the sun and of music, played on his lyre.

The gods sometimes wore golden sandals with which they could walk on either water or air. They moved so fast as the wind, sometimes even faster.

The goddess of love and beauty was Aphrodite. She was married to a lame god. They had a son who was called Eros. He was the little god of love (the Romans spoke of him as Cupid).

Ares was the son of Zeus and Hera. His parents spent much of their time quarrelling, so it seems natural that Ares should have been the god of war.

Athena was the goddess of wisdom. She was said to have been born from the brain of Zeus. The people of the great Greek city of Athens looked upon her as their defender.

Hermes, the messenger god, wore a winged cap and winged shoes.

This is Athena, the goddess of wisdom.

Hermes, the messenger god, is seen here as represented in a statue.

Port Arthur Bows Its Head With Nation In Memorial to Woodrow Wilson

REV. ALVIS DAVIS MAKES ADDRESS

Praises Late President Before Great Crowd Here

Port Arthur yesterday afternoon bowed with the nation when hundreds of citizens gathered at the memorial services delivered on that day in the postoffice in memory of the late Woodrow Wilson.

Effective in its simplicity, yesterday's service honored the passing of America's war-time leader while the huge throng stood with heads bowed throughout the exercise.

With a scattering of ex-service men throughout the vast assembly on Austin avenue for the ceremony, the exercises were centered around the stellar career of the dead statesman as America's war-time leader.

Rev. Davis speaks in one of the most masterful addresses of his kind delivered here in some time. Rev. T. Alvis Davis of the Presbyterian church, suggested Wilson taking the leader through the various stages of life, from his birth in Staunton, Va., to his death at Washington.

In his address on Wilson, Rev. Davis took the three outstanding periods of the ex-president's life, starting with the Christian scholar. Through the years of study and finally to the presidency of the Princeton University the address retraced.

As the patriot and statesman Wilson's work in his first political adventures as the governor of New Jersey and later president of the United States were reviewed by the speaker.

Martyr of Peace
The fight for an ideal, his League of Nations, was told in the third phase of Wilson's life by Rev. Davis. The Martyr of Peace was the apt title of that part of the address.

From Staunton through Princeton, Versailles the conferences with his advisors and finally his death the speaker led Wilson.

The services yesterday afternoon were opened with an invocation by Rev. Gentry and closed with the benediction by Rev. Rodgers.

Taps by L. J. Paschal and the echo to the call by Bob Miller rounded out the impressive service.

Rev. Davis' Address
In part Rev. Davis said in his address:

"We are gathered here this afternoon as citizens of this great country to pay homage to our illustrious dead. It is seldom that a commonwealth as great as ours is called upon twice in such a short space of time to commemorate the deaths of men like Harding and Woodrow Wilson.

"Barely has it been the fortune of one man to succeed in three departments in life; a Christian scholar; a statesman and the martyr of peace.

"As the son of a Presbyterian minister he was schooled in those great Christian principles which made him such a force on the stage of life. Wilson rose rapidly from his humble place to a commanding position in the literary world.

"Historian, essayist and an authority on economic questions he had established his name in each of the divisions and without the honor later conferred upon him he would have been entitled to his place among the great men of the world. This was his Christian scholar period.

Career as Statesman
"As a statesman and patriot he went from the presidency of Princeton University to that of the United States. He was elected governor of New Jersey. His superior statesmanship caught the eyes of the democracy of the nation and at Baltimore, July 2, 1912, he was nominated to be the standard bearer of the national democratic party.

"He was elected in that November and took office March 4, 1913. "Hardly had Wilson engaged himself to his new duties than new clouds, thick and ominous rose on the horizon to our south. His attitude in dealing with Mexico was that of conciliation and in the great conflict which had plunged the whole of Europe into carnage and death he manifested the spirit of the Peacemaker. But when the hour struck, when for the best interests of mankind in a proclamation which as a state paper takes its place among the immortal instruments, he declared a state of war existed between Germany and the United States of America.

"So rapidly did he move that he mobilized the greatest army that ever marched in so short a time as to conquer the belligerent nations of the world. He placed all the resources of this great country of ours to bring

Chief Red Fox Asks 'Day' For Indians in America

"The Irish have their St. Patrick's Day, you have your Independence Day, the merchant has his bargain day, so why not give the original native of this country an Indian Day?"

This was the feature question propounded to members of the Citizens club at their luncheon yesterday when Chief Red Fox of the Sioux Indian tribe addressed the banquet.

"I was born in Todd county, South Dakota, in 1889, and graduated from Carleton some time later," the Indian chief went on. "My father led the rebellion against Custer and featured in numerous other important Indian battles."

Fight Against Grifters
"The Indians have been recognized as a nation of people through a treaty with these United States; we never have rebelled against that treaty, but we have fought the oppression brought upon us by crooked agents sent to overlord us."

The chief declared that 85 per cent of the white men who originally married into the Indian tribes, did so because they wished to be exempt from taxation and wanted to operate under the protection of Indian women on federal lands. The other 15 per cent, he said, married for love.

"But your government never intended for the Indian to suffer," the chief went on. "However, through agents and grifters, the government have betrayed, and that betrayal has put the Indians on the war-path."

Red Fox said his fellow tribesmen are being supported and protected by the "good men and women of this country, because they don't want the Indian trampled upon."

Uncle Sam Took All
"And through the education they have given us, through the protection this government has given us, there are now 2,547,000 acres of land being tilled by Indians that formerly lay about a speedy and successful termination of the greatest war of history."

Leader for Peace
"On November 11, 1918, the drum beat ceased and Woodrow Wilson who had become the leading figure in the arena of war became the world's leader for world peace."

"We see him at Versailles with the leading diplomats of the world. He held him as he gave up and down the nation and submits to the judgment of the American people his plan for a warless world."

"He poured out his life blood freely for the good of all mankind. For the American people, for the down trodden of Europe. And in all the pandemonium of men that shall gather in the days to be in the interest of world peace, the spirit of the unselfish devotion of Woodrow Wilson will be the ruling force."

"As private citizen, Broken in health he left the arena of many a hard fought battle to spend his closing hours in the quiet and sanity of home. I can imagine in those hours of quietude his vision swept the furthest future and he heard the marching of men and the shouting of children acclaiming the dawning of the day of universal peace for which he so freely gave up his life. Around his brow there gathers a crown of never fading glory. As long as the American people cherish his spirit and incarnate his ideals, America will continue to shine as the brightest star in the galaxy of nations."

Chief Told to Stop Skating on Walks
It's a violation of the law to ride a bicycle on the sidewalk, and the law is going to be enforced. This spoke Mayor Pink Logan in a city commission conference, when the city clerk was instructed to write the police chief, Walter W. Covington, to prohibit all riding or skating on city sidewalks.

Stringent measures will be enforced to prevent the sidewalks being incumbered by bikes and skates, the mayor said.

SEA SCOUTS IN HUNT FOR SHIP

Seek Discarded Vessel As Training Boat

With location of the Sea Scouts summer camp for the southern district secured for Port Arthur, Scout officials are now lining up their forces to procure a discarded shipping boat upon which to train the boys.

This is the word today from Port Arthur Scout headquarters, and Captain Frederick D. Steele, marine surveyor and chairman of the Port Arthur Sea Scouts, will have a special committee to work with him in getting a vessel for the Scouts and locating an anchorage near the city.

Seek Anchorage
Finding a place to put the ship is expected to present greater difficulties than actually getting the ship. Port Arthur Scout officials said, and even as they go about their plans for acquiring a ship, they also are on the look out for a place to anchor the craft they expect to get.

Indications that several hundred boys from all parts of the south will come to Port Arthur next summer to train for Sea Scouting work are seen by Scout officials here in the inquiries coming in from inland cities and towns since the word started the rounds that this city has been selected by National Scout headquarters as the place for locating the Southern Scouting district's Sea Scout training camp next summer, Scout officials said.

Scout Leaders Coming
A visit to Port Arthur will be made about March 1 by Scout leaders from a number of Southeast Texas cities who are scheduled to gather in Beaumont for a Scout Leaders training school. The primary object of this

Says Piles Heal Up and Disappear Forever
Seldom fails to give Absolute Relief from All Pain and Suffering. Guaranteed by All Good Druggists.

Many sufferers from Piles or Hemorrhoids have become despondent because they have been led to believe that their case was hopeless and that there was nothing in the world to help them.

To those people we say, "Go to your druggist and get an original box of MOAYA SUPPOSITORIES." One of these inserted into the rectum according to directions will be found to give immediate relief. They reach the source of the trouble and by their soothing, healing, antiseptic action first allay the pain and soreness and then by direct contact with the ulcers and piles cause them to heal up and disappear forever.

It's simply wonderful how speedily they act. Blessed relief often comes in two days. Even in cases that have steadily resisted all known treatments, marvelous results have been obtained. MOAYA is one of the wonderful discoveries of recent years and any sufferer from Piles or Hemorrhoids who is disappointed with its use can have their money refunded. Hart Drug Co. and Service Drug Co. will supply you. Mail orders accepted. —Adv.

PORT ARTHUR PLAYED LUCKY

Shipped Her Grain Before Big Slump Came

"Bad export years come from apparently no cause at all," A. T. Metz, grain inspector for the Chamber of Commerce, said today referring to the grain situation at Galveston and other Gulf ports.

At Galveston, a report here said, grain is being turned back to millers instead of being exported, due to the fact that there is no demand.

The same circumstance would prevail in Port Arthur, Metz declared, but for the fact that this port shipped out all grain before the slump came.

First Baptist Church Here Raises $40,000 for Work in Last Eleven Months

$30,000 BUDGET IS AUTHORIZED

Hope to Start Main Unit of New Church in 1925

Over $40,000 raised and expended for church work in 11 months is reported by Rev. C. W. Culp, pastor of the First Baptist church, as the achievement of his congregation.

The records of the church show $38,335.31 has passed through the general treasurer's hands as coming from the membership's pledges and payments towards the church budget for the last fiscal year, ending March 1, together with funds raised for a cash offering to the building fund, and in addition to these sums, various organizations in the church have raised in excess of $2,000, Rev. Culp said.

Budget Increased

An operating budget of $30,000 for the fiscal year starting March 1 is authorized by the congregation, representing an increase of $2,000 over the budget for the fiscal year ending the first of next month, which has been paid up during the first 11 months of the fiscal year, Rev. Culp said. From now until the opening of the fiscal year, all funds paid into the church will be applied to the building fund, he said.

"It is the plan of the church to have all the present indebtedness liquidated by March 1, 1925, at which time work on the main unit of the church building will be begun," Rev. Culp said, explaining that in addition to the regular sums subscribed in the budget for the building fund, that a cash offering for about $10,000 will be made later in the fiscal year.

Where Money Will Go

Of the $30,000 budget adopted by the church membership, $15,000 has been prorated for current expenses, $10,000 for missions, education and benevolence, and $5,000 to the church building fund. The current expenses cover salaries of employees, maintenance of the Sunday school and B. Y. P. U. organizations, interest on the building indebtedness, new equipment and repair to property. Over 50 per cent of the $30,000 budget will be spent in Port Arthur, Rev. Culp said.

A complete list of all expenditures made during the last 11 months will be furnished each member in the church and will show where all of the $38,335.31 raised this fiscal year was spent, the pastor said.

TWO DROWN IN OKLA. CRASH

3 Others Escape When Car Goes in Water

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 8.—Two persons were drowned and three others narrowly escaped the same fate when their car plunged off an embankment into the city lake here last night.

Bodies of Paul Powers, 16, and Miss Jamie Beattie, 13, were recovered by firemen after the car sank in 40 feet of water.

Three other occupants of the car swam 50 feet through the icy water to the shore after freeing themselves from the closed car.

All Nine Escape Death on Bridge

QUEBEC, Feb. 8.—Breaking of a natural ice bridge and the sweeping away down the raging St. Lawrence of nine persons proved upon investigation today to have resulted in no casualties.

All those who were trapped when the ice gave way with a terrific roar managed to scramble ashore later on the southside of the river, but did not report their safety. Fergies searched for them throughout the night.

Texas Citizen Gives Facts In His Case

"Almost from the very first dose of Tanlac I began to feel better, and less than three weeks of the treatment left me feeling just like a new man," is the statement of W. H. Cooney, 720 S. Cemetery St., Sherman, Texas, pioneer resident of that city.

"Last year I broke down completely and could not work for two months on account of stomach trouble, indigestion, with gas and a burning sensation, kept me feeling miserable. Nothing seemed to help me, and I did not think I would ever be well again.

HEALTH WORK IS INCREASED

January Report Shows More Patients Cared For

Increases in the work of the U. S. public health service in Port Arthur during January over the month of December is shown in the monthly report on the service issued today by Dr. T. J. Laddell, U. S. public health service chief in charge of the Sabine district.

In January 287 days of relief in the hospital were furnished patients by the service, against 237 days in December, an increase last month over the preceding month of 30 relief days, Dr. Laddell said. There were 240 cases treated in the service clinic, in the federal building, during January, while in December 158 cases were given clinical treatment, making 82 cases more in January than in December, the surgeon said.

Sunday School Class Starts Auto Contest

An attendance campaign in the form of an automobile contest has been started by the Men's and Women's Bible classes of the First Christian church, the automobile race to start at Port Arthur and end in New York City.

The classes have secured a large chart twenty-four feet long, representing a highway between Port Arthur and New York City, showing intervening cities. Each park on the chart represents twenty miles. The classes have selected their favorite automobiles, with the Women's class competing in a Dodge and the Men's class unanimous in their vote of a Buick.

New members, visitors, offering and total attendance within the classes constitute the "miles" counted and after each session the cars will be moved forward to their respective places.

The contest began last Sunday and the first lap shows the Men's class in the Buick slightly in the lead with the Dodge almost within touching distance. Both classes are well organized and the winners will be they who work the hardest, Rev. R. R. Yelderman, teacher of the Men's Bible

Rules Truth Serum Testimony Is Illegal

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., Feb. 8.—The murder of a young white girl, whose charred body was found in the ruins of a church near here last October became an unsolved mystery today.

All Wincheater, indicted for the murder was acquitted by a jury here last night and authorities admitted their long investigation was at an end. The jury deliberated but a short time.

Defense attorneys attempted to show that truth serum was used on Wincheater, with negligible results but the testimony was ruled out.

TEXAS GIRL IS SLAIN IN N. Y.

Strangler Throttles Her and Leaves Her Dead

FINANCIER QUESTIONED

Jewels Stolen, Bootleggers Are Sought By Police

By United Press.
NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—Back home in the Texas town where her daddy kept a grocery store, Louise Lawson was a girl prodigy. Not a girl for miles around in the Lone Star State could play the piano as Louise could at 12. Her folks sent her to New York from Walnut Springs, to complete her musical education—a little sliver of a Texas girl with a winsome, cultured manner that made her influential friends.

Today, a grief-stricken mother was hurrying north and physicians were performing an autopsy upon the brain of the girl who was 24 when she met violent death Friday, to determine whether she was strangled or smothered in her luxurious west side apartment known as "The Monastery."

Wealthy friends and associates of the Texas girl, including Gerhard M. Dahl, chairman of the executive committee of a big transit company were being questioned.

Miss Lawson's body, clad in a blue silk night gown was found sprawled in the abandon of death across the lace coverlet of an expensive mahogany bed in her apartment.

Silk Death Cord

Silken hose and torn strips of filmy underwear bound her hands and feet, while across her mouth, apparently the cause of death, a Turkish towel had been fastened with strips of surgeon's plaster.

Two men who gained admission to Miss Lawson's apartment a few hours before her body was discovered told the elevator boy that they were bootleggers.

Three jewel boxes, fashioned in mahogany that matched the furniture in the apartment had been ransacked. Platinum watches, diamonds and other jewelry were missing.

Photographs of men, one on the mahogany dresser in a big silver frame, others scattered about the faintly furnished apartment led to the true story of her life of the past four years.

One of the photographs was inscribed "Jerry Doll" and astute detectives soon had translated this into Gerhard M. Dahl, of the Brooklyn Manhattan Transit executive committee. The latter had engaged a lawyer who spoke for him.

"Mr. Dahl was interested in Miss Lawson's musical career. She was a remarkable pianist, I heard," said Frederick Landeck, attorney.

Stock of the Brooklyn Manhattan Transit company to the value of $12,000 was found in Miss Lawson's name, held by Hayden Stone and company where Dahl had his office.

MOTHER ILL, HE WINS GRIM RACE

London Man Speeds to Bed-side in U. S.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—A 3,000-mile race to the bedside of his mother will end here today for Harry G. Zellfridge, London department store owner, when his special train arrives this morning. The trip promises to have a happy ending for Zellfridge's mother, who was for a time dangerously ill of pneumonia but is now recovering.

Mrs. Zellfridge, who is past 90, was visiting at the home here of Jules Henri De Sibour when she was stricken with pneumonia. When word was carried her son in London, he started for Washington. While on shipboard he was wireless for a special train to meet him when he landed at Halifax, N. S. Zellfridge landed last night, according to word received here and left aboard the special for Washington.

Mrs. Zellfridge meanwhile passed the crisis and though still very weak on account of her advanced age, is believed to be out of danger unless complications set in.

Mayor Logan Denies Election Is Needed to Put City on Its Feet

On February 4 of this year, the city of Port Arthur had close to $400,000 to its credit in the First National bank.

On February 5, one day later, the city was in the pauper class, and when March 31, the end of the city's fiscal year, rolls around, the city will be close to $65,000 in the red with no relief in sight unless an election is called and the voters asked to give the administration a vote of confidence on which it may borrow enough money to meet running expenses between now and next tax-paying period.

This information was disclosed this morning in an examination of the city's books. The indebtedness which will accrue against the city between now and March 31 as stated above is estimated but based upon the following figures:

Two payrolls	$40,000
Loan made Feb 5	7,400
Unpaid bills (est.)	10,000
Hospital, Day Nursery, Rel. Cross	7,200
	$64,600

Even were all the banks in the city of Port Arthur asked to get behind the city and some doubt is expressed as to the outcome of an election. What would happen in the event the election went against such a proposal. (Turn to Page 2, Column 1.)

LOGAN DENIES CITY FUNDS IN BAD SHAPE

"The idea of an election to approve a loan to the city is inconceivable," the mayor stated today. "When the time comes we will have the money. It will not be necessary to call an election to get it. The finances of the city are not in bad shape," the mayor concluded.

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—Five men of the United States coast guard service are believed today to have been captured by rum runners operating off the Long Beach sector of "rum row."

The men, attached to the coast guard cutter Seminole, left their ship in a small boat shortly after midnight when a schooner was sighted evidently attempting to reach the shore with a cargo of liquor.

When the men failed to return after several hours, the Seminole dispatched a search for them, which at a late hour today had been unsuccessful. Naval authorities have dispatched a patrol to the Seminole's aid and ships at sea have been asked to keep a close lookout for the small boat.

Lieutenant R. B. Fall was in command of the men who have disappeared. Names of the four other men have not been ascertained.

WEEK'S PERMITS REACH $41,225

Numerous New Residences Are Scheduled

Building permits started out with a rush for the first nine days of February when grants calling for the erection of $41,223 worth of buildings and repairs were issued at the city engineer's office.

From the indications based on the review of the permits for this far in the month much of the building is going into residences, some 12 permits having been issued to date for residences valued at from $1,200 to $2,000.

Repair job permits, many of them for minor damages sustained by fires have helped to swell the total for the month.

Lists Closed at Noon in News Love Contest

By Love Editor

It's all over, folks. Somewhere in this huge list of love answers published here last past days are two people who have the best definition of love, according to the contest judges. The decision will be announced in The News Sunday morning.

The contest closed at 12 o'clock noon today. Letters bearing postal cancellations up to that time will be accepted if received early enough this afternoon at the Love Editor's office to get in the count.

The Love Editor has the most complete list of expert answers to the question, "What is love," ever compiled in this part of the country, he believes. There's been lots of interest in the contest. And all of us have had a pretty good time figuring it all out.

There's a ten-dollar gold piece going to the best answer and a five-dollar gold piece going to the second best.

CONSPIRACY IS WALSH CHARGE

Claims Pioneer Abandoned Rights to Sinclair

CLEARED WAY FOR FALL

Document on Denver Court Action Is Filed

By United Press.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—Harry F. Sinclair was enabled to get his lease of Teapot Dome from former Secretary of Interior Fall by means of a conspiracy with the Pioneer Oil company, the senate investigating committee was told today.

Complaint Not Filed

The conspiracy was charged in a complaint filed in court by Leo Stack of Denver charging that the Pioneer Oil company "entered into conspiracy" with Sinclair to "abandon its just rights to Teapot Dome."

Dropping by the Pioneer company of its claims permitted Sinclair to go along with his leasing negotiations with Fall, the complaint charged.

Walsh Presents Complaint

The complaint was read to the committee today at request of Senator Walsh, Montana, by his secretary.

Stack contended the Pioneer and "double crossed" him and asked the court to award him $5,000,000 damages.

Senator Walsh contended that Stack's suit was unjustified and that he really had no "just right" to the lease.

Isn't it a fact," he asked of F. G. Bonfils, Denver Post publisher, who today resumed his story of dealings with Stack and Sinclair, "that the governor of Wyoming had declared the claims of the Pioneer Oil company invalid?"

"I think that is the case," Bonfils answered.

Bonfils testified yesterday that he and Stack had received $250,000 from Sinclair for the Pioneer oil claims.

Sinclair is to decide by March 15 under their agreement, Bonfils testified yesterday, whether he shall pay them $4,000,000 for the claims or give them half the profits of drilling certain acreage in Teapot Dome.

HOUSTON MOVES IN PARDON ISSUE

Protests Move to Free Negroes in 1917 Riots

HOUSTON, Feb. 9.—Houston rose in arms today to prevent the pardoning of 54 negroes held in Leavenworth for participation in the rioting in 1917 in which 17 persons were killed and a number injured.

A called meeting of the executive committee of the Chamber of Commerce will be held next Tuesday, which time it is expected plans will be drafted to fight efforts to free the negroes.

Representative Dan Garrett of this district and Senators Shepherd and Maxfield have urged local authorities they will exert every influence to prevent pardons for the negroes being executed.

The war department and other government agencies have been petitioned to aid in keeping the blacks from freedom. Fight for the blacks is being waged by a number of negro societies.

BIKE'S COLLIDE, TWO YOUTHS BADLY HURT

DALLAS, Feb. 9.—Allan Florence and John Williams, both 16, were brought to a hospital here last night as a result of injuries received when their motorcycles collided near Rowlett late Friday. Both were seriously injured.

Florence's skull was fractured and Williams received a fractured thigh.

Won't Speak

Former Secretary of Interior Albert B. Fall (left) went before the Senate investigating committee, but refused to discuss oil leases granted by him.

ANDERSON TRIES TO ESCAPE PEN

Anti-Saloon Head Seeks New Trial After Conviction

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—William A. Anderson, superintendent of the New York State Anti-Saloon League today is preparing for a last desperate fight to avoid becoming a inmate of Sing Sing prison.

He was sentenced late yesterday in supreme court by Justice Arthur S. Tompkins to serve not less than one year and not more than two but obtained a stay of sentence pending hearing on a certificate of reasonable doubt.

If this is refused he will begin serving his sentence next Friday. If it is granted he may be given a new trial.

Justice Tompkins refused a plea for clemency and suspension of sentence made by Anderson's attorney, former Governor Charles S. Whitman but granted the stay of sentence.

Anderson mounting is free on continuance of his $5,000 bond.

Justice Tompkins after hearing Whitman's plea for clemency swore Anderson for what he termed "obviously false testimony" given during the trial.

He was found guilty of third degree forgery, growing out of his alterations of accounts in the league's books.

KILLS OFFICERS

Tennessee Moonshiner Is Sought in Tragedy

HARRIMAN, Tenn., Feb. 9.—Two officers, Constable James W. Jett and Deputy John Swann were shot to death Friday as they neared a still on the farm of Dillard Newport, near Emory Gap, three miles from this city.

The bodies were concealed in hastily prepared shallow graves and later found by Sheriff Johnson and a posse searching for Walter Newport, alleged to have fired the fatal shots.

Wales Breaks Shoulder, in 14th Fall Off Horse

LONDON, Feb. 9.—A storm of national protest against the Prince of Wales' recklessness on the hunting field has been aroused by the accident in which the heir to the British throne broke a collar bone near Leighton Buzzard yesterday.

This is believed to be the fourteenth fall suffered by the prince, who is untiring and fearless on every day during the hunting season.

1924 BUILDING RATE EXCEEDS 1923 RATIO

CHICAGO, Feb. 9.—Building operations went ahead at a 10 per cent faster clip in January, 1924, than in the first month of 1923, according to the U. S. Bureau of construction.

Notable gains made include New York, $10,000,000; Los Angeles, $1,900,000; Long Beach, Cal., $850,000; and Houston, Texas, $1,350,000.

HERRIN MINE AREA IN RIOTS

Klan Cleanup of Mine Tigers Cause, Claim

TWO OFFICERS KILLED

Anti-Klan Faction Attacks Raiders, Report

By United Press.
HERRIN, Ill., Feb. 9.—The Carbonate group of the United Mine Workers' union today claimed today and with loaded rifles was fired upon early today by a mob.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Feb. 9.—Five companies of Illinois National guardsmen today patrolled Herrin and ten additional companies are under arms at their home stations waiting orders to move on Herrin if the "boogie war" outbreaks spread.

The five companies arrived at Herrin following a shooting in which a policeman who belonged to the Ku Klux Klan was shot to death and an anti-klan deputy sheriff was wounded.

Governor Authorizes Troops

Word of the arrival of the troops in Herrin was received by Governor Len Small, who authorized their dispatch on request of Sheriff Galligan of Williamson county.

Trouble sprang up in two fights here just before midnight, resulting in the slaying of a Herrin policeman and a deputy sheriff of the anti-klan faction.

Cesar Cagle, klansman and policeman, was shot to death on the street here, shortly after Deputy Sheriff John Layman, bitter enemy of the Klan, was shot and fatally wounded at a meeting held to protest against "raids" on alleged blind tigers by the Ku Klux Klan. The meeting was outlawing a campaign of retaliation against Glenn Young, leader of the Klan raiders.

Fire on Police

Three Herrin policemen, appointed by the Klan forces, entered the shooting started.

Young and his raiders under federal warrants have arrested nearly 1,000 alleged liquor law violators in two months.

The meeting also was said to have been a gathering of the Knights of the Flaming Circle, anti-klan organization formed here last year.

Sheriff George Galligan, who led the protest against the Klan's activities by calling state troops because of "riot conditions" a month ago, came to the meeting about 10 o'clock with Layman, his most trusted deputy.

The sheriff started addressing the liquor-raid victims, advising them to "take it easy" and let things take their legal outcome.

Policemen Taken to Safety

The door of the hall opened and John Ford, chief of police of Herrin, and two of his policemen entered.

An uproar started, followed by a half dozen shots.

The smoke cleared and it was found Layman had been shot.

Sheriff Galligan, fearing immediate violence against the three policemen, all Klan advocates, placed in office last month after the Klan had forced the police force to resign, hurried them into an automobile and drove at high speed through the early morning hours to Murphysboro.

Philly Jury True Bills 27 in Bootlegger Plot

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 9.—Warrants for the arrest of 27 persons indicted by the federal grand jury here late Friday on charges of being implicated in a million dollar mail order bootlegging plot were served by U. S. Commissioner Mundy today.

Isaac Bullfunt, a piano wire merchant of Philadelphia, said to be the "brains" of the alleged conspiracy to flood the country with liquor by using the mails to transport whisky, was indicted on 22 counts.

Demand and Supply Meet Face to Face on This Page

Always there will be those who want to buy or sell. Always there has been a way for them to get together, though never so quickly or completely as in these days when nearly everybody buys and reads a newspaper both for its news and advertising features.

The advertising columns of a newspaper are just about as "news" as its news columns, because the former reflect the pocket-book.

The hundreds of "wants" and "don't wants" on this page furnish plentiful opportunities for profitable reading every day.

It's worth more to tell more and sell more through The News.

MAYOR LOGAN
It will be necessary for firemen and police as well as other city employees to draw their regular wages a month but the city is even without funds to meet the forthcoming payroll at the present time, according to their books.
That the city has been running in the "red" for the past three years was the claim made by interested citizens this morning and figures secured from the city's own books cited to prove the assertion.
From Cash to "Red"
On March 31, 1920, when John W. Tyson, then mayor of the city, turned his office over to Mayor Logan, the city had something like $38,405.20 in its credit in the bank. And to show how the city's cash balance rapidly waned each year they point out the following facts. On March 31, 1921, its cash balance was but $10,003.78. One year later or in 1922 at the end of the fiscal year there was no cash balance and the city was $450.10 in the "red."
This year, or the end of 1923 on March 31, will show the city somewhere in the neighborhood of $65,000 in the "red."
Year By Year Deficit Grows
Another angle of the city's financial distress was also pointed out as regards their borrowing periods for the past few years. In former years it was not found necessary to resort to borrowing until late in the year. In other words the taxes and other revenue took care of all expenses from late in the fall of one year until tax-paying time in January of the year following. To show how this "borrowing period" has been gradually moved up from month to month the following figures are cited:
Month Year Amt. Borrowed
August 1919 $ 77,559.98
April 1920 92,701.50
July 1921 99,277.45
June 1922 115,977.01
May 1923 (approx) 153,000.00
Feb. 1924 7,400.00
Thus it can be seen that the borrowing period of each year was moved up a few months toward the beginning of that same year and the amounts grew from $77,559.98 in 1919 to close to $150,000.00 to cover the 1923 indebtedness. And for the year 1924 it is estimated the city must have close to $300,000 to carry them through next tax paying period in January, 1925.
Little Relief in Sight
The city may find some small relief in borrowing against unpaid and delinquent taxes amounting to over $50,000 but it was said the bank would hardly loan more than fifty per cent of that amount or approximately $25,000. It is not expected that of the $50,000 in delinquent taxes more than $20,000 or $25,000 will be paid. This will mean about one month's payroll.
The next opportunity for the city to raise money will not come until a vote on the budget in June against which it can borrow and banks may loan up to the full amount authorized by the electorate.

BEES DRIVE SQUIRREL OUT TREE FOR HUNTER
FULTON, Mo., Feb. 9.—Col. N. L. Townsend, formerly on the staff of Governor Herbert S. Hadley, reports that while out hunting a swarm of bees drove a squirrel out of a tree that had attempted to get away from Colonel Townsend and his two sons. After the squirrel was sighted and before the boys could get a shot at him he had whisked into the hollow tree. He came out faster than he went in, and when he was shot several bees were still clinging to him.

FINDS STORK FAVORS THE HOSPITALS NOW
NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—The stork in America is gradually abandoning the home and leaving his precious bundles in hospitals.
The percentage of births in the home is gradually falling off with a corresponding increase in births in maternity hospitals, according to statistics presented at a recent convention of the American College of Surgeons.
No matter what may happen in the future, one thing is certain. The job of peace has settled over the financial affairs of the winner—Fargo (N. D.) Tribune.

"ENDS THE QUEST FOR THE BEST"

Inactive Liver
"I have had trouble with an inactive liver," wrote Mrs. S. Nichols, of 4412 Spencer St., Houston, Tex. "When I would get constipated, I would feel a light, dizzy feeling in my head. To get up in the morning with a lightness in the head and a trembly feeling is often a sign that the stomach is out of order. For this I took Thedford's Black-Draught, and without a doubt can say I have never found its equal in any liver medicine. I have used it a long time, when food does not seem to set well, or the stomach is a little sour."

"GUARANTEED TO MAKE 'EM LAY!"

"I wish we could get off a good joke on Uncle Ned to pay him back for the ones he's played on us," said Dick to Arch as the boys liked toward the store at the crossroads to buy buns and push them out of existence on the hill. Uncle Ned, the proprietor of the country general store, was an inveterate joker. Tormenting the boys seemed to be his specialty.

"Set yourselves by the stove, young rascals," greeted an old man in a butcher's apron when they puffed in. "I'll be with you in a minute." His attention was captured by a beautiful flow of language from the mouth of a school boy. The boys settled themselves on the bench before the little old heater and listened.

"And you see those boys at your don't lay as they should," asked the gentleman with the samples. "Then you have only to buy a package of our famous hen foods, give it to your towns with their meal, and absolutely without fail, I guarantee you an egg a day per bird."

"One of these never-fail sure-to-please arrangements," so to speak," suggested Uncle Ned.

"It is exactly that," agreed the other, "absolutely pure, immaculate, and, as Uncle Ned rang upon the bell," little wife, he handed over the bottle with a flourish.

After a few minutes of peering with Uncle Ned the boys left the store munching their buns. The moment they were outside Arch whispered, "I've got it. Just the joke to play on the old fellow. He'll be surprised he'll give us five cents while Dick fell in with it eagerly."

The next afternoon after their evening, instead of going to the crossroads store, the boys stole down to Uncle Ned's house, carrying a carefully concealed package. In a few minutes they were sitting in the parlor. The next night the same performance was repeated. The third evening found them back again at the store.

"How's the hen food working?" asked Dick with great interest.

To My Valentine

It is an old-time custom to send a Valentine:

I'll be old-fashioned for a change, and haste to send you mine. Though trading hearts in days gone by was made a secret game, I've screwed my courage to the point of writing down my name.

"Think hard who is the very nicest," the dotted line. It will be prettier person you know, then plan to send if you tie a red ribbon through the holes you see, for almost everything in the picture is to be red, the Valentine need to be colored very carefully. See if you can use white scallops around the black, your red crayon very lightly to produce a pink tint on the roses with the centers darkened a bit. Make the leaves a pale green too. If you use paints, dilute your color before you put it on. The little lady's hair should be golden or brown. Use the most delicate green tint for her frock. Of course the heart she hides must be red, too. The flowers in the corners of the Valentine need to be colored very carefully. See if you can use way to put your ribbon through the holes so that it will have the appearance of a book tied together is to use a quarter of a yard of red ribbon, very narrow. Draw one end through the bottom hole from the outside to the inside. Draw the opposite end through the top hole from the outside to the inside. Then bring both ends through the center hole from the inside to the outside and tie a neat bow. At the end of the verse you must write your name. An envelope, a stamp and an address, and your Valentine goes out in the first mail.

LET'S BREAK THE RECORD IN HOP-SCOTCH GOLF

The old-fashioned hopscotch, which a chip or block of wood is court, marked off into squares, outkicked until a foul is made, has been replaced by a newer style of hopping game known as Hopscotch Golf because the course resembles a miniature golf links.

Mark off a course according to the diagram. Choose a particular spot, perhaps a tree, for your starting point from which to kick off the chip. The holes, as you notice, are in a circle, and may be either drawn with chalk on a cement drive or may be made by sinking the lids of baking powder cans or old pie tins in the turf of your back yard. Each circle is numbered, and the player kicks his chip, hopping all the while, with as few "strokes" as possible into the first hole.

The others in the game do likewise, in order, then the first player goes on to the second hole. The person who gets around the course in the fewest number of kicks of his chip, wins. As many may play the game as like, or a person may even play it alone, trying to break the record for the neighborhood.

HOW VALENTINE'S DAY CAME ABOUT

St. Valentine, for whom to-day is named, but very little is definitely known of his life and the exact time of his death. He was a Roman saint of the third century who became a martyr.

thus making the name of the saint drawn her patron.

St. Valentine was one frequently placed in the box since his birthday came close to the time of the annual gathering. The game lasts just when saints were drawn, and before long the people returned to the old way, keeping, however, the name of the saint for the day on which it was played.

Valentine Suggestions

Long ago it was believed that the birds chose their mates on February 14, and in time the idea spread that the day was one of wooing for people as well as feathered folk. Hence became the important thought of the day, for on Valentine's Day, as it was called, one was very likely to meet his fate.

Some people believed that the first man a girl met on Valentine morning would be the one she would marry. Others said that should one meet a tall man first on that day, she should plant a phlox in her garden and it would grow and grow to the height of the man, and be the marvel of the countryside, but should she plant a phlox for a short man, it would be stunted and lacking in beauty.

Those who wished to be lucky in love wore a yellow crocus all day as a bringer of happiness.

Answer to today's picture puzzle: Cupid was shot the man because he never shoots at a girl.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

A MAN'S MANNERS ARE A MIRROR, IN WHICH HE SHOWS HIS LIKENESS TO THE INTELLIGENT OBSERVER.—GOETHE.

The Editorial Mind

However,
Odds and Ends and Comments on Our Morning Mail

The man who invented the waste basket did it for as much for civilization from the standpoint of orderly progress as the man who first conceived a can and shaft.

Take away your waste basket for a day and see what results. Turmoil and confusion replaces orderliness. The eye becomes fatigued at its cluttered surroundings. It becomes tedious to differentiate from what is to be done and what has been done. You lose your snap. Your efficiency is in dire peril, and that of every department linked with yours.

Try it out, if you have any doubts. Patriots have erected monuments to national idols. Some day a monument will be erected to the unknown individual who first conceived the waste basket.

It would be impossible for many of us in offices here in Port Arthur to think back to its origin. Our civilization claims credit for the waste basket and a multitude of other things to which it is not entitled, one of which is electricity. The waste basket seems to be such an insignificant affair when we consider the telephone, motion pictures, engines and such that little credit is usually given this humble agency for cleanliness and efficiency.

You'd be surprised, perhaps, to learn that the waste basket is several thousand years old. How many thousands is purely guess work. It has been square, round, octagonal, tapering at both ends like a vase with the reservoir in the center, and dozens of other shapes. It was found that the tapered variety was too hard to empty; that the square variety produced corners, when the basket was laid on the floor which defeated attempts to keep the surroundings clean. Gradually the basket slightly larger at the top and round has developed.

We might take credit for this evolution of the waste basket but we cannot. The ancients did it for us. The ancient Egyptians and Babylonians and Phoenicians had their waste baskets. Archaeologists have discovered them in making excavations. Some of them have contained broken bricks with writings on them, apparently discarded through some error, just as a letter writer discards it today when in reading over it finds he has made a mistake and must do it over. Some have been found containing the bones of fens. The waste basket also was a dining room affair.

The only office utensil, it appears, on which we moderns have a "monopoly" is the typewriter, and of that future developments may make us none too sure.

The functions of the waste basket of course, is to collect waste. It does it admirably, with a little human help. Make friends with yours. Like the dog it has been one of mankind's most faithful companions since an early dawn.

More than 700,000 gallons of wood alcohol (methanol) is being manufactured each month, reports the government. Wood alcohol is a deadly poison—and the only deadly poison that is sold openly, without restriction, to all comers. Sales of all other various poisons are safeguarded by registration.

The public should be protected from unscrupulous bootleggers. Government is extremely negligent in not forbidding that protection by some method such as coloring wood alcohol a permanent red.

FREIGHT RATE REDUCTION IS BIG PROBLEM, SAYS CAPPER

Senator Arthur Capper of Kansas is a republican farm bloc emissary of glad tidings. He opines that reduction of freight rates is the big vital problem, a marketing system the second vital problem and greater authority lodged in state railway commissions to deal with local rates and conditions a third vital problem.

He would have a governmental marketing agency established in European countries to push the sale of American products. He would have very low income tax rates for the little fellows and very high income rates for the big fellows. And after careful investigations and prayerful consideration of the problems he finds it is possible for the former soldiers to have the bonus and all the people to have a sweeping tax reduction.

He has another plan for raising the wind. He would assess special taxes against inheritance from estates built up through incomes from tax free securities. And there you have it.

It is possible, according to the sunflower statesman, to pay a liberal bonus to all former service men and to make a sweeping cut in all federal taxes now so joyously paid by property owners of the nation.

Jones must dearly love to be fed on bunk. It is his principal diet in campaign years. Someday Jones will think as well as work. Then he will break his chains and shoot demagogues full of paper ballot bullets.

DAUGHERTY HAS A DEFENSE

Democratic senators are clamoring for the scalp of Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty. They are clamoring for his resignation. Daugherty has a defense. He has advised Senator Walsh of the Senate committee that he was never consulted by any one as to the wisdom, merits, or legality of the California Teapot Dome leases now under consideration by the senate committee, nor was the Department of Justice ever asked for an opinion or consulted in regard thereto.

This Buckeye attorney general reminds Senator Walsh and the committee that the attorney general of the United States is permitted to render his opinions only when requested to do so by the President and heads of governmental departments. So you are.

The late President Warren G. Harding did not consult Daugherty; the late Albert B. Fall did not consult Daugherty; Secretary of the Navy Denby didn't consult Daugherty. It appears they did not ask the Attorney General to render a legal opinion. And this was the saying of an ancient Texan who had roved about the world a bit as a prospector for mineral wealth, "Wherever there is oil there is hell."

TUBERCULAR PATIENT
Climate treatment has always been of great assistance to the person suffering from tuberculosis. Even a change from the crowded city to the open country is often a great aid.

The real value of a suitable or mild climate is the opportunity it gives the patient for rest and activity in the fresh air, but using the real benefit is as great a safeguard as certain mild climates.

Aside from mild, dry living quarters, tubercular patients, or those who are trying their best to avoid any such infection, must carefully consider their diet.

One thing must always be carefully thought of in this connection. The tubercular patient is most always the victim of a lack of appetite. Therefore, the food prepared for him should be a "tempting dish," one that cannot be refused.

The body is subject to great loss of wasting away of tissue in this disease. The necessary diet should aim to keep the body tissues from waste or being consumed faster than they can be replaced or built up. On the other hand, scientific diet must combat the attempt to overfeed or stuff the patient.

Physicians, who care more tubercular diet a specialty, agree that if the patient is far below normal weight for age and height, he must be given energizing food to build him up to normal.

Plain fare should be the rule. A nutritious diet can be carried out successfully at an average expense. Energy foods that produce satisfactory gains depend on the individual and his digestive powers. Butter, cream, olive oil and other vegetable oils, together with lard and cod liver oil are valuable.

To keep up weight and provide for the body tissue waste, use fresh lean meats, plenty of milk and eggs. Bread and butter is good tubercular fare. Avoid pies, sweets and excessive drinking of coffee or ice water. Take plenty of time in eating and avoid smoking.

THIS LITTLE OLD WORLD

NEW ORLEANS
BY MASON DIXON
NEA Service Writer

NEW ORLEANS, La. Feb. 8.—Out in the pretty cemetery in Gertie, where magnolia and orange trees are thick among the gravestones, is the tomb of Miss Lela Ward, surrounded by a new marble shaft, of a blood-and-magnificence done in marble. Around the tomb are a number of smaller tombs, each marking the last resting place of a beloved corpse.

Miss Ward died several months ago. In her will filed this week she directed that as her pet dog, they be buried near her own grave, each to have a little monument. She even directed that the bodies of dogs be laid to rest in the designated plots surrounding her grave.

The Louisiana Railway & Navigation Company is planning to erect a new depot in New Orleans. In the entrance will be built a Levee store, once the old slave block in the famous Hotel Royal from which Levees were auctioned to the highest bidder in antebellum days, and where Abraham Lincoln, making a flatboat trip to New Orleans as a boy, saw the blacks auctioned off.

All the material in the new depot will be from the ruins of this famous hotel. Some of the stones bore the imprint of bullets and cannon balls. The old hotel was once used as the capital of Louisiana and it was from this building that a Democratic legislature battled with the Republican "carpet-bag" legislature, and finally seized control of the government. Henry Clay was entertained in the old Hotel Royal in 1843 when the supper alone, cost $30,000.

LIZZIE WILL DRINK
BOSTON, Feb. 8.—No prohibition for Lizzie! She can keep on getting her daily drinks, and nobody will be arrested for giving them to her.

For after 15 years' research, chemists have failed to concoct a pill that can be used to prevent an automobile radiator from freezing. Now the experimenters are beginning to look upon the problem as insoluble.

So it looks like Lizzie will can have her daily doses of alcohol—wood or grain.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—Having been beaten in a milking contest by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, a "dirt farmer" Senator Magnus Johnson, Minnesota, today challenged a "city chap" as his opponent.

Senator Melville McCormick, Illinois, is more careful in the handling of large-size motorboats. Recently he decided to repair his craft, the Liberty, himself.

THIS COUNTRY IS—

RICH

STABLE

ITS SECURITIES ARE THE BEST

Why are Liberty bonds entitled to rank among the best securities in the world?

1. The United States Government is as stable, if not the most stable, of any government. It has been tested by four wars in addition to a civil conflict.

2. The government is honest. It has paid every dollar on the due date. Prior to the world war, the national debt was decreasing, although wealth and population were increasing, and a substantial reduction has been made in the world war debt even now.

3. It is probably the wealthiest country in the world and has immense natural resources.

4. There is no question about the country being solvent, as it only takes about 1 1/2 per cent of the national income to pay the interest on the national debt.

5. Finally United States Government bonds are largely a debt to its own citizens. Plain self-interest will see that they are paid.

They are Liberty bonds entitled to rank among the best securities in the world.

There was a pause—a silence. Then Hening, with a gesture, turned toward the lady.

"Aw, hell, come on," he shouted. "Chaos came at his call. With the false courage that coward can muster through numerical superiority the horns advanced. Chairs toppled, tables crashed, the jangle of breaking glass could be heard. Men and women grappled in a struggle that knew no order. "Kill!" "Murder!" "Police!" Words of violence were those that rose to the surface of this seething mass.

But above it all occasionally there came the voice of a child. "—but deliver us from evil, for Thine is—"

Mary Margaret, her crutches at her side, was still praying. Men felt inert here and there. "—forgive us our trespasses," prayed Mary Margaret.

Umanaki rose to his feet at the edge of the milling mass. Huge doubled his strength as he flung himself at the crowd and began to fight.

They quailed before him. The mass, untroubled itself and men and women clunk off.

There on the floor lay the bulk of a man. It was Gilchrist. A thin stream of blood trickled down his face.

There was a guilty silence. "—and the power and glory, forever, Amen."

Mary Margaret opened her eyes. She might have been looking down from that hill near Golgotha. She drew herself to her feet and with a mute stare stared slowly at the apparently lifeless figure in the center.

A piercing scream halted her. "Mary Margaret!" cried Miss Levinson. "Where are your crutches?"

The girl looked down in bewilderment at her feet. "I don't know," she said absently, advancing. Then full realization came to her. "I kin walk. I kin walk," she shouted. She bent over the prostrate form. "Mr. Gilchrist," she cried. "Mr. Gilchrist!" She put her arms about him.

THE FOOL

BY CHAMBERLAIN

BEGIN HERE TODAY
Clare Jewett, in love with the Rev. Daniel Gilchrist, married Jerry Goodkind for his money. Daniel was disowned from the fashionable Church of the Nativity in New York because of his medical views.

George Goodkind, Jerry's father, calls and orders Daniel to come to the hall to help Gilchrist. Clare saves her last left Jerry, and Daniel would be free to him to return to her husband. Joe Hening and his mob break in and threaten Gilchrist (Daniel) and Mary Margaret.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
"That's it," he said. "Don't let this buffalo run. Come on, let's drive him out." Hening came close to Gilchrist. "I told you I'd get you," he sneered. The mob pressed closer. Umanaki placed his bulk in front of them. They were fast closing in on him.

"Listen to me," commanded a voice. It was Goodkind who had forced his way through to face them. "No violence. You're dealing with a lunatic. I've got a doctor coming down here. Leave it to me and I'll have this place closed tonight."

The mob was becoming more restless—moving closer. Miss Levinson and the Heninglers were backing toward the windows. Mary Margaret looked on helplessly from the platform. Her face was terror-stricken. She dropped her crutches to her side and knelt.

"Oh, dear God, please listen—she besought. And then fervently, she began to repeat the Lord's prayer.

Her voice was lost in the growing tumult. "Leave him alone," warned Goodkind. "You can't beat a crazy man."

"He can't crazy," shouted Pearl. "He ain't a man. Ain't you seen what he just done for me. I lied to him and he's given me another chance, and I'm gonna take it. He ain't no man. He's a saint. I tell you he's like God!"

Laughter first and then a serious ruffled protest came from the mob. "That's what he's been tellin' 'em. Ain't it, Grubby? Jimmie, didn't he tell you he was the son of God?"

Assenting noises came from here and there in the pressing throng, and whispered or mumbled breaths.

"That's what he told 'em all," Joe blurted. "That's how he gets 'em." Joe turned menacingly toward Gilchrist. "Didn't you tell 'em you was a son of God?" he demanded.

Gilchrist straightened. "I am," he said simply. There were epithets of scorn, with fire now in the mass that edged closer with fists shaking in the air and curses shouted aloud.

Gilchrist stood his ground and raised his hand. "So are we all," he shouted. "In you and me—and all of us—deep down—is something of Him. We may try to hide it—or kill it, but in spite of ourselves we are divine."

Tong Malheur stepped out of the press and faced him. "If you're a son of God—save yourself. If you're what you say—save us a sign."

There was a pause—a silence. Then Hening, with a gesture, turned toward the lady.

"Aw, hell, come on," he shouted. "Chaos came at his call. With the false courage that coward can muster through numerical superiority the horns advanced. Chairs toppled, tables crashed, the jangle of breaking glass could be heard. Men and women grappled in a struggle that knew no order. "Kill!" "Murder!" "Police!" "I told you," she exclaimed. "I told you you was a saint."

Umanaki whirled to face them too. "You want a sign?" he thundered. "Look! Down on your knees—you'd—murderers," he commanded. "God's in this room. Down on your knees!"

NEWSPAPER ARCHIVE

THE TANGLE

LETTER FROM JOHN ALDEN
PRESCOTT TO SYDNEY CAR-
TON. CONTINUED

You will be surprised, old man, when I tell you who is going to be my new secretary. She has told me she knew you quite well—Sally Atherton. I never met her, you know, but she was an old friend of my wife's and has lately been connected with the publicity department of Leslie's father's street plant.

She has been having some trouble with her husband who, as far as I can see, is an egotistical cad, and wanted to get away from him. He also is working for Leslie's dad. Mrs. Atherton went to Mr. Hamilton and made a clean breast of it. When Leslie heard about it she arranged for her to come to me.

Did you know the woman well? She seems rather ingenuitous. I wanted to take her out to our house to dine the day she came and she would not let me do it. She said she would see Leslie later and then Leslie showed me a letter in which she insisted that she was to be my secretary. She must know us only in a business way.

She is a character at her work, old man, and has already written some amazing copy. There are going to be some changes all along the line in our office and I am going to put her just as far toward the top as I can, provided she keeps on the way she has started.

But to get back to the Ellington affair, Leslie went to New York recently and I, coming in rather early one evening in her absence, found Ruth Ellington monkeying with Leslie's mail safe. Of course, I was much surprised, as Leslie had never allowed me to know the combination and I knew she kept many little things as well as money and jewels in that place. She wanted no one to see it. It did not seem right to me that my wife should share her secrets with another woman while she kept them from me.

Hatred temporarily I asked Ruth what she was doing, and she informed me she had just put a large sum of money in the safe that she hadn't wanted to keep in her room until banking hours the next morning. This money, she explained, was the result of the day's sales in a new lingerie shop she had just opened.

I let her think she put that over me, but when Leslie came home I demanded an explanation. She demanded that she open the safe, which at first she refused. Finally she opened it and I found the money Ruth had said she put in there.

I knew then that Ruth Ellington had given me some cock and bull story. I knew she could never have made six thousand dollars worth of sales during one day in that little shop of hers. Suddenly I thought I had hit upon the right solution. I told Leslie I thought this money must have been sent to Ruth by her absent husband, to be paid to me and others of his creditors. I promised her I would investigate the whole matter. In the meantime I forbade my wife to speak to Ruth Ellington again until the whole thing was explained satisfactorily.

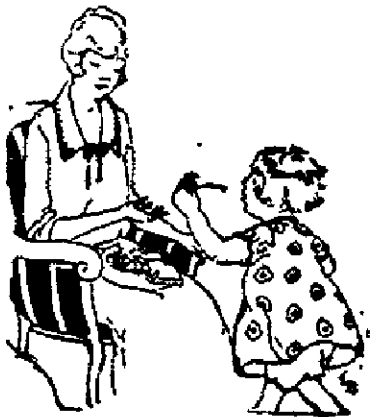

At present she is not given up by her friend and I have not given up the money. We are in a deadlock over it. Leslie will make no explanation why she gave the combination of her safe to Ruth Ellington and refused it to me, and nothing I can say has any effect upon her.

If there were that my business was running along very smoothly with Sally Atherton as my secretary, and that she seems to be most understanding, I would be pretty miserable. As it is, the Acme Advertising Company is flourishing even if the home life of Jack Prescott is not.

Yours,

JACK.

LOVE LETTERS

attached to each other, passion to regard with affection, truthfulness and endurance is the love of God.

JESSIE SMITH, P. O. box 477.—Love includes kindness, gentleness, generosity, meekness, courtesy, patience, unselfishness and sincerity. All are necessary, but one alone is not love.

MISS MUREL FLYNN, 1133 Tenth street.—Love is a divine existence within the human heart, causing great happiness and thorough sorrow and grief, it is everlasting.

MRS. N. R. JOLLY, 616 DeQueen boulevard.—Love is the gift which God has given, the secret sympathy, the link, the tie, the heart and mind on hand.

MRS. R. D. THORP, 1501 12th Procter street.—Love is irrefragable emotions that exist in our soul of which God alone has control.

CLYDE L. ALLEN, 700 9th st.—Love is thought that are blind, but matrimony is an oculist that never fails to cure.

J. P. BROUSSARD, 236 19th street.—Love comprises of but four letters that unite heaven and earth for God is Love.

MRS. D. S. SMITH, 1445 Savannah avenue.—Love isn't folly, but it's something within us jolly, sacred, pure and true; God giveth me and you.

MRS. BRUCE REID, Gulf Refinery park.—Love is a foretaste of the existence possible only after we have cast aside the limitations of the flesh.

LUCY F. WALTERS, 3445 10th street.—Love is the most necessary, intelligible gift of God. It is the rock foundation of all happiness and natural life.

MRS. FLORENCE ROSAMOND, 201 12th street.—Love is the essence of everything good and true, a gift that was given unto man. Love is life and power.

FORREST W. ALLEN, 700 9th street.—Love is radio broadcasted by thoughts, received by hearts.

JOHNIE CHELSEA, 1027 Thomas boulevard.—Love is a funny thing, beautiful as a pearl, if you want your heart broken, give it to a girl.

R. H. MCMAHON, 1011 Lake Shore.—Love is the age-old instinct to mate. God's gift to man in the beginning.

R. J. CRANEY, 1234 6th street.—Love is that G. I. like spirit which gives a man the courage to look the devil in the eye and tell him he is dead.

MRS. ELLA MURAN, 1234 6th street.—Love is that magnetic power which draws the goal of achievement within reach of all its possessors.

MRS. BEAUCHE BROWN.—Love is a strong feeling of affection, especially to one of the opposite sex.

T. R. McDONALD, 407 Procter street.—Love's flames born from mother's heart, shorn by kindness to all living life in the small sphere in which we live.

H. W. SEWARD, 221 E. 14th street.—Love is an unobtainable mystery; it comes, it goes, yet it is God's most glorious gift to man and woman.

MRS. A. J. RYAN, 2210 11th street.—Love. A little spark blown upon with the breath of understanding until it becomes a flame that destroys all semblance of selfishness.

MRS. R. HODGES, Post Neches.—Love is power given to man, beast, birds and all God's creation in each its individual way.

MAE HAMITER, 235 19th street.—Love is that which prevents crime, makes happiness, joy, sorrow, and mixes combine; love makes the world go around.

A. L. FAYNE, 923 Richmond avenue.—Love is nature's gift to the human being—the light of the world.

GRACE O. DOWDEN, 335 West 11th street.—Love is a net that catches both good and bad.

MRS. JULIA E. TANNER, 345 Sixth street.—Love is the gift that God has given to mortal man beneath the heavens. It is the secret sympathy, the silver link, the silver tree which heart to heart and mind to mind in body and in soul combine.

O. L. ADAMS, 2052 Beaumont avenue.—Love is a seed that is sowed by nearly all kind of creatures, but without cultivation will never be respected.

MRS. J. H. STANDLEY, 1339 Atlantic avenue.—Love is the tie that binds our hearts in mutual love, the fellowship of kindred minds, like God is love above.

KATIE L. HARTLY, 620 Sixth street.—Love is both sacred and adorable and cannot be defined. Only in person, as it includes words, actions and sweethearts.

J. A. BATTLE, 313 Shoreport avenue.—Love is soothing and tender effect to the human mind and heart, conveying the highest standard of life.

FATIGUE S. HARRIS, Two Office, Gulf refiners.—Love is the natural attraction between one's self and some one who is dependent upon you.

NEWS DEALER MITCHELL.—Love: The father and mother that kisses, cares for and educates 10 children is a working model of love.

MRS. H. DECKSHOT, 357 Augusta avenue.—Love: the greatest, profound reality, highest gift of a human to another, true sanctifier of life, noblest possession from another.

IVY L. DUGDALE, 751 Fort Worth avenue.—Love is good deeds, pure thoughts and higher motives in helping our country to be a better, stronger, enlightened nation.

RAY T. KAUFMAN, 2314 Grand avenue, Dallas, Texas.—Love is obliterated communication from masculine positive to feminine sensitive. Heart throbs indicate contact, the minds complete the circuit.

T. F. CHARTREE, 415 Ninth street.—Love is the only thing God planted in the human heart that never dies. It lifts mankind higher and extends throughout eternity.

W. A. PHILLIPS, Post Neches, Texas.—Love is the heart's perfume, the poetry of existence, Divinity's grandest attribute, man's loftiest sentiment, and the brute's noblest instinct.

G. W. BENSON, Post Ridge.—Love is the spirit of Christ imbedded in the heart that prompts us to practice the Golden Rule.

MISS WYONA ROBERTSON, 2101 Tenth street.—A mighty force, a ruler, love rules the court, the hall, the grave and man below and saints above.

E. C. BLACKBURN, 2337 Thomas boulevard.—Love is kindness, mercy, thoughtfulness, devotion and interest for anything or anybody.

C. NELSON, 311 Mobile avenue.—Love is part of the soul of animals which craves from birth until death. The source of all inspiration.

MATTHEW ASHIT, 1045 Houston avenue.—Love is happy emotion, emanating from God to adorn life and complete our earthly happiness.

D. M. BROOKS, 237 Sixth street.—Love is Cupid's diary. It has effect on mind, soul and body.

RICHARD L. ALOE, 2348 Twelfth street.—Love is attraction and can be attained through our understanding and conscious co-operation with the natural laws.

MRS. J. C. STEPHENS, 1210 First street.—The right kind of love is everlasting. Heaven and all that is within is pre love. No sorrow there.

E. C. KELLY, 244 and 1-2 Sixth street.—Love is God's greatest blessing to man. It is the tie that binds us to all that is worth living for.

MRS. J. P. PITTMAN, 818 DeQueen boulevard.—Love is divine because God is love. It is undefinable. You love and cannot tell why. It binds true hearts together.

JAMES LATHIER, Griffith's Residential Park.—Love is the Christ-like spirit radiating from the human heart, reflecting, penetrating and understanding the joys and sorrows of life.

BEULAH LAUCHLIN, 274 Sixth street.—Love is the sweet, unselfish passion of life's recompense.

MRS. O. E. WELCH, 628 Twelfth street.—Love is the declaration of the consciousness that will lead us to nothing in love. God is love.

N. S. EDEN, 924 San Antonio avenue.—Infinite impulse of human souls uniting marriage, an earthly paradise, a home, a home. Fatherhood and motherhood earth's greatest good.

J. E. CRANEY, 1234 6th street.—Love is an elixir for eternal life; that inspiring force which sends man out into the world to conquer, to perform miracles.

MRS. CHARLES CASTLE, 1140 Beaumont avenue.—Love is that unknown power that binds as well as wounds. Love conquers that which keeps Maggie and Jiggs together.

F. C. LONG, 553 West Sixteenth street.—Love is a river of life that will flow freely always, if it doesn't get dammed.

ALVA J. AUCOIN, 1231 Beaumont avenue.—Love is a dreamy feeling that starts up from the heart to the head and often ends in the divorce courts.

Texas Progress
NOTES

McAllen.—Improvements and extensions to the city's water and sewer systems now under construction will add 50 city blocks to the territory served. The cost is about $100,000.

Sherman.—The rate of street car fare in Sherman has been increased with approval of the city commissioners to seven cents with four tickets for 25 cents. The former fare was five cents.

Beaumont.—Beaumont men of this city are figuring on the possibility of building an electric railroad between here and San Antonio.

Houston.—The Houston Lighting and Power company will soon occupy new offices in the building at Walker avenue and Fannin streets.

Houston.—The street railway company here will on April 1 begin service on the Austin street route that has no street car service with its large 20-passenger buses. This is the date when the city will operate under a recent order by the people.

Dallas.—At the recent election of officers of the Texas Electric Railways Jack Beall was re-elected president of the company.

Dallas.—The Dallas textile mills will be in operation in a few days. A test run has been made. The mill has 10,000 spindles and 230 looms.

Del Rio.—The annual meeting of managers of the Texas General Electric company is to be held in this city February 10 to 14. The company operates 41 plants in Texas.

Uvalde.—Uvalde is the scene of much telephone construction activity. Besides new plant equipment being installed, old pole lines with overhead wires are being replaced with taller poles carrying cables through sections of the business district.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

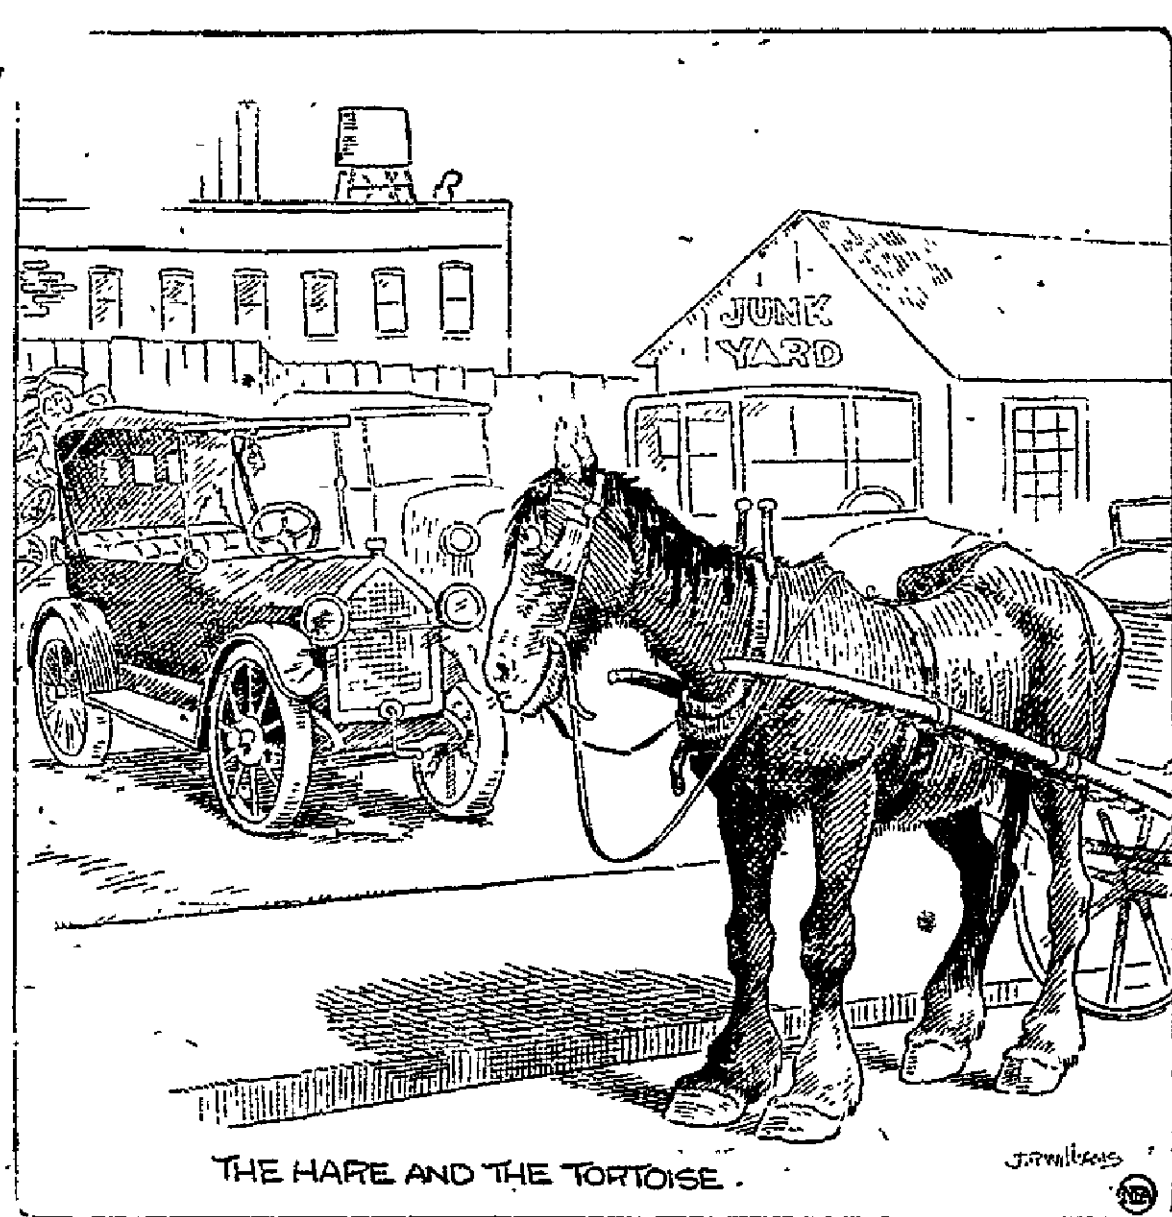

Age you jumping rope up in the sky? "I wonder who is going to guess my new riddle?" said the Riddle Lady. "Nick and I will guess as hard as we can, won't we, Nick?" answered Nancy. "We just love riddles!" said the Riddle Lady, and the Mother Goose people crowded closer. "Well, this one is hard," warned the Riddle Lady, "so think hard." And she began: "Are you a bridge where the little Chinese Come a pit-pattering o'er the sea, Because if you are, I will send for a star, And have them bring one down to me. "Or perhaps it may be you're the magical arch That divides earth from fairy-land, And through your wide portals the fairies march, To the tune of the fairy king's band. "Or perhaps you're awing the fairies spread out, To protect fairland from the rain, Your stripes must be waterproof, I have no doubt, The way your bright colors remain. "To Be Continued

CHILD'S STORY OF THE HUMAN RACE

CHAPTER 106 The New Cup-Bearer You remember that the gods and goddesses of Mount Olympus often supped of the delicious drink called nectar. Their enjoyment was made even greater by the fact that the nectar was passed around by Ihebe, goddess of youth. Ihebe was all that could be wished for in the way of freshness and beauty. The heavenly rulers smiled upon her as she came with pitcher and goblet and poured out the drink of drinks. She returned their smiles, her face beaming joyously. Then, one day, nectar was no longer served by the lovely Ihebe. Stories disagree as to the reason. One account says she was dismissed on the result of a fall while serving the gods. A story I like better is that she gave up the work because of her marriage to Heracles or Hercules. Who was to take her place on Mount Olympus? Zeus decided to try to find a successor. Taking the form of an eagle he flew near the surface of the earth. Near the city of Troy, in Asia Minor, he caught sight of a handsome boy on a hillside. "Ah!" he exclaimed, "that lad would make a splendid cup-bearer." Down he came, caught the youth in his talons, and carried him to Mount Olympus. The name of the new cup-bearer was Ganymede. He became a favorite with both gods and goddesses. One of our pictures shows him giving drink to an eagle. This eagle is not Zeus in disguise, but the bird which sometimes carried thunder bolts for Zeus. The burer reported to Brown that Ganymede, the cup-bearer, gives drink to the eagle of Zeus.
